the decisions of others to complicate things further we live in an age where there are more things to choose from than ever before the internet is transforming our choices and making us more accountable for them what we choose is recorded modelled and used to predict our future behaviour so are we in a position to make better choices today than we were a decade ago certainly there are some who believe so psychologists claim we are subject to hidden mental processes that lead us to one thing rather than another economists offer predictions about what people will buy and some philosophers claim that our choices echo our evolutionary past are these claims merited do they reflect the beginnings of a new science of choice this book offers a critical overview of these and other claims showing where they are justified and where they are exaggerated it will be an essential reference for anyone interested in whether science can help us to understand both the ways people make choices in their everyday lives and how these may be changing novel learning series tm the last song by nicholas sparks student edition seventeen year old veronica ronnie miller s life was turned
