Jagdgeschwader 3 may not have the same immediate resonance as some of the more famous Luftwaffe fighter units such as Jagdgeschwader 2 Richthofen but it is arguably the archetypal German fighter formation of World War 2. Not only did it participate in every campaign fought by the Luftwaffe with the exceptions of Poland and Norway it flew every major variant of the two legendary German wartime fighters, the Messerschmitt Bf 109 and the Focke-Wulf Fw 190, starting with the Bf 109E in 1939 and ending with the Fw 190D-9 Long Nose in 1945. And during the course of the hostilities it numbered among its ranks more than 70 Knight's Cross winners, a total exceeded by only one other Jagdgeschwader. The wealth and variety of detail afforded by such a background, which includes the historic battles of Britain, Stalingrad, Kursk, Normandy, the Ardennes, and Berlin, provides an ideal framework upon which to portray the multitude of stories, exploits, and ultimate fates of the many Aces themselves. From the now unknown trio who achieved their first five kills during the Blitzkrieg in France in the late spring/early summer of 1940 to the nearly two dozen highly acclaimed and lauded centurions who flew with JG 3.

Shortly after the Allied landings in France, the Germans unleashed the first of their so-called revenge weapons, the V1 flying bomb, launched from specially constructed sites in northern France. The fast, small, pulse-jet powered, pilotless aircraft were aimed at London with the sole intent of destroying civilian morale to the point where the british government would be forced to sue for peace this dangerous new threat drew an immediate response and the air defence of great britain as fighter command had been temporarily renamed established layers of defence that included a gun line and balloon barrage the main element however were standing patrols by the fastest piston engined fighters available to the raf the new tempest v and griffon powered spitfire xiv other types were allocated too most notably the polish mustang wing while night defence was left in the capable hands of several dedicated mosquito squadrons although pilotless the v1 was no easy foe thanks to its speed powerful warhead and sheer unpredictability nevertheless 154 pilots became v1 aces 25 of whom were also aces against manned aircraft

the blenheim if flew some of fighter command s early offensive operations and the type soon proved vulnerable when pitted against single seat fighters however for much of 1940 the blenheim fighter squadrons provided the raf s main long range convoy escort and nightfighter capability in the mid 1930s in an attempt to capitalise on its expertise in power operated gun turrets the Boulton Paul company developed the Defiant a single engined fighter in which all the armament was concentrated in the turret behind the pilot intended as a bomber destroyer the Defiant had its combat debut over Dunkirk and initially achieved some considerable success a number of American built aircraft called douglas db 7 light bombers named havoc by the raf were fitted with radar for nightfighter duties and others successfully replaced the blenheim as night intruders a total of 11 pilots claimed five or more victories when flying these three types to become aces whilst no fewer than 33 who became aces claimed at least part of their scores when flying the blenheim defiant or havoc
