change as well as specific strategies and policy design policy social and political transformation is defined and five components of transformative processes and outcomes are presented the five components are used to integrate and raise questions about the social movements that appear in the current issue of peace and conflict governance and politics are central to understanding and analysing transformations towards sustainability however despite receiving growing attention in recent years the governance and politics aspects of transformations remain arguably under developed in the global sustainability literature this chapter discusses the global transformations at the interrelated levels of polity policy and politics by following three views of globalization as
