The Convergence of the Fundamental Rights Protection in Europe 2016-04-05

the book gives insight into the structures and developments of the fundamental rights protection in europe which is effective at the levels of the national constitutions the european convention of human rights and for the eu member states of the eu fundamental rights charter the contributions of renowned academics from various european countries demonstrate the functional interconnection of these protection systems which result in an increasing convergence basic questions are reflected such as human dignity as foundation of fundamental rights or positive action as a specific form of equality as well as the concept of rights convergence in this latter contribution the forms of direct reception of a different legal order and of the functional transfer of principles and concepts are analyzed particular reference is made to the eu charter the united kingdom human rights act as well as to france and germany it becomes obvious how important interpretation is for the harmonization of national and conventional fundamental rights protection traditional institutional approaches like the dualist transformation concept in germany are functionally set aside in the harmonization process through constitutional interpretation specific studies are dedicated to the field of the eu fundamental rights charter and to the european impacts on the national fundamental rights protection in selected countries such as the new democracies poland romania and kosovo as well as more traditional systems such as spain italy the nordic countries or turkey ten years after the charter of fundamental rights of the european union became part of binding primary law and twenty years since its adoption this volume assess the application of the eu charter in the member states how often and in particular by which actors is the eu charter invoked at the national level in what type of situations is it used has the approach of national courts in general and of constitutional courts in particular to eu law to eu fundamental rights law changed following the entry into force of the charter what sort of interplay does the charter generate with the national bill of rights and the european convention is the life with the charter on the national level a harmonious praktische konkordanz or rather a messy ménage à trois these and other questions are discussed in the four parts that form the book part i is dedicated to the normative foundations part ii sets out member states perspectives providing a structured in depth account of the charter s operation in 16 different member states part iii provides a detailed evaluation of selected rights contained within the charter part iv synthesises the materials presented up to that point to develop a series of broader perspectives looking to discover underlying lessons about the relationship between eu fundamental rights law and national legal systems

the charter of fundamental rights of the european union enshrines the key political social and economic rights of eu citizens and residents in eu law in its present form it was approved in 2000 by the european parliament the council of ministers and the european commission however its legal status remained uncertain until the entry into force of the treaty of lisbon in december 2009 the charter obliges the eu to act and legislate consistently with the charter and enables the eu s courts to strike down eu legislation which contravenes it the charter applies to eu member states when they are implementing eu law but does not extend the competences of the eu beyond the competences given to it in the treaties this commentary on the charter the first in english written by experts from several eu member states provides an authoritative but succinct statement of how the charter impacts upon eu domestic and international law following the conventional article by article approach each commentator offers an expert view of how each article is either already being interpreted in the courts or is likely to be interpreted each commentary is referenced to the case law and is augmented with extensive references to further reading six cross cutting introductory chapters explain the charter s institutional anchorage its relationship to the fundamental rights agency its interaction with other parts of international human rights law the enforcement mechanisms extraterritorial scope and the all important explanations

the book explores from a comparative and inter disciplinary perspective the relationship between fundamental rights and private law in europe a debate usually referred to as drittwirkung or horizontal effect of fundamental rights it discusses the different models of horizontal effect and the impact that fundamental rights may have in shaping tort law especially the position of child tortfeasors the book concentrates on several european jurisdictions namely france italy germany portugal sweden finland and england and wales at a crossroad between human rights and european private law this study draws insights from several legal fields international european tort constitutional and child law sociology psychology and feminist studies it also considers policy implications and advances proposals which would ensure the optimisation of the effect and maximisation of the effectiveness of fundamental rights in tort law and more generally in private law this book departs from traditional legal doctrines and offers a more pragmatic comprehensive and just legal analysis of the role of fundamental rights in private law it will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students academics practitioners policy makers and activists with an interest in human rights tort law comparative law children s rights and european private law this book presents an international and comparative exploration of how the covid 19 global pandemic has affected and impacted on issues of human rights security and law throughout the world the covid 19 global pandemic has fundamentally impacted and altered our way of life as this book sets out all states have had to contend with similar challenges as well as competing interests and obligations affecting human rights and security these challenges present very few simple choices but nonetheless carry enormous consequences organised into two thematic and distinct yet interrelated parts first on theoretical and practical challenges for human rights and second on threats to personal collective and global security the book examines how the ability of states to safeguard our fundamental rights and security broadly defined has been challenged questions about the legality and legal impact of recent responses to covid 19 will persist for some time it is often said that global problems require coordinated global solutions but the various responses to the pandemic by states suggest a notable lack of a consensus amongst the international community the book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of human rights law and security law it will also appeal to constitutional lawyers given the nature of law making and the challenge of ensuring adequate scrutiny in emergency situations as well as the impact of covid 19 upon the legal framework more generally it will provide a valuable resource for policymakers practitioners and public servants the book reflects on constitutional balancing from the perspective of fundamental labour rights it draws on neo constitutional theories and builds on the assumption that fundamental labour rights understood as rights aimed at protecting workers during their working life or after retirement are the normative expression of founding values and can be balanced against equally axiological constitutional principles the balancing of constitutional labour rights can be conducted by various institutional actors and by applying different techniques this volume reviews the theoretical debates on judicial balancing and the approaches adopted by the court of justice of the european union and the european court of human rights to proceed with a closer assessment of italian and spanish judicial traditions in particular it addresses the main profiles of the case law of the italian and spanish constitutional courts on labour and social law reforms adopted in the aftermath of the 2008 crisis where balancing takes place between labour rights and economic principles the analysis is focused on four main aspects the fundamental labour rights in the balance the role of the courts the technique applied by the judges and the constitutional interests subject to the balancing it ultimately reveals that the axiological nature of fundamental labour rights is preserved and the economic and financial contingencies confirm their factual character although they are occasionally recognised a prominent role in the ratio decidendi the book will be a valuable resource for academics and researchers working in the areas of labour law social security law legal theory and constitutional law

the reason of state plays an important role under the european convention for the protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms not only does article 15 authorize states to take measures derogating from their obligations under the convention in time of war or other public emergency threatening the life of the nation most of the rights and liberties defined in the convention are subject to escape clauses as well this book demonstrates first that the system of the convention is much more ambiguous than could have been expected secondly it shows on the basis of study carried out in most of the member states of the council of europe that a certain resistance exists to the convention neither the ambiguity of the european system nor the resistance of states to the system must be overlooked these should not however conceal the dynamics of the europe states relationship which could well lead to a more reasoned conception of the reason of state has a europe of human rights begun to develop through the complex interplay of national and european norms this is the question raised in this fascinating book mireille delmas marty is professor of law at the université de paris 1 panthéon sorbonne and director of the section de sciences criminelles of the institute of comparative law in paris the material contained in this publication is the outcome of the 8th international conference on human rights, right to knowledge and information in heterogeneous society, organized by the faculty of law and administration in the university of Warmia and Mazury in Olsztyn, Poland, in cooperation with the faculty of law in the university of Bari, Italy, which took place on 30-31 May 2008 in Olsztyn. The selection of issues in no respect can be called accidental. The Summit of the European Council in Lisbon in March 2000 created foundations for creating society based on knowledge that is conscious in gaining information and equal access to knowledge. Individual actions of countries should aim at creating a human-friendly information society which allows creation of new working places and developing information and telecommunication technologies. This broad spectrum of problems which were the subject of the conference interests not only polish researchers but also scientists from countries like italy spain ukraine the united states of america united kingdom and south korea they represent various cultures which implies differences of opinion on many issues related to human rights publications included in this collective work are the reflection of freedom to express thoughts on difficult topics which are important for all though beginning came to the conclusion that this ambitious vision could not be realized immediately the financial situation of the member organizations of the esf also deteriorated making a cautious approach a necessary virtue the solution ultimately adopted by the last of the working parties the ad hoc committee for comparative law and submitted to the general assembly of the esf in 1979 called for the launching of four pilot projects in november 1980 the assembly approved detailed plans for two of these projects the first of these dealing with medical responsibility has already been presented in an impressive volume e deutsch and h l schreiber editors medical responsibility in western europe the book criminal proceedings languages and the european union linguistic and legal issues the first attempt on this subject deals with the current situation in the jurislinguistic studies which cover comparative law language and translation towards the aim of the circulation of equivalent legal concepts in systems which are still very different from one another in the absence of common cultures and languages in criminal procedure it is possible to distinguish features that are typical of common law systems and features that are typical of civil law systems according to the two different models of adversarial and inquisitorial trials therefore the most problematic challenges are for the european union legislator to define generic measures that can be easily implemented at the national level and for the individual member states to choose corresponding domestic measures that can best implement these broad definitions so as to pursue objectives set at the european level in this scenario the book assesses the new framework within which criminal lawyers and practitioners need to operate under the lisbon treaty part i and focuses on the different versions of its provisions concerning cooperation in criminal matters which will need to be implemented at the national level part iii the book analyses the issues raised by multilingualism in the eu decision making process and subsequent interpretation of legal acts from the viewpoint of all the players involved eu officials civil penal and linguistic lawyers part ii explores the possible impact of the eu legal acts concerning environmental protection where the study of ascending and descending circulation of polysemantic words is especially relevant part iv and investigates software is one of the most important products in human history and is widely used by all industries and all countries it is also one of the most expensive and labor intensive products in human history software also has very poor quality that has caused many major disasters and wasted many millions of dollars software is also the target of frequent and increasingly serious cyber attacks among the reasons for these software problems is a chronic lack of reliable quantified data this reference provides quantified data from many countries and many industries based on about 26 000 projects developed using a variety of methodologies and team experience levels the data has been gathered between 1970 and 2017 so interesting historical trends are available since current average software productivity and quality results are suboptimal this book focuses on best in class results and shows not only quantified quality and productivity data from best in class organizations but also the technology stacks used to achieve best in class results the overall goal of this book is to encourage the adoption of best in class software metrics and best in class technology stacks it does so by providing current data on average software schedules effort costs and quality for several industries and countries because productivity and quality vary by technology and size the book presents quantitative results for applications between 100 function points and 100 000 function points it shows quality results using defect potential and dre metrics because the number one cost driver for software is finding and fixing bugs the book presents data on cost of quality for software projects and discusses technical debt but that metric is not standardized finally the book includes some data on three years of software maintenance and enhancements as well as some data on total cost of ownership
