Les Vacances du Petit Nicolas 1962 i always get away with it when i try stuff like this partly it comes down to sort of assuming that i'm going to i've got loads of confidence and loki got away with everything well almost everything when troubled quiet ben begins at the ruthlessly competitive cottesmore house school to the richest most privileged boys he is befriended by hobie the wealthy class bully product of monstrous indulgence and intense parental ambition hobie is drawn to ben because he can see the otherlife a violent mythic place where gods and monsters roam ben has unnerving visions of thor and odin and of the giant beasts that will destroy them as well as loki god of mischief hobie is desperate to be a part of it years later ben discovers someone very dear to him is dead and he can't help wondering if hobie wild restless dangerous hobie had something to do with it beguiling shocking and richly imaginative the otherlife is about the darkest impulses within us all

France 2004-12-15 this book opens a novel perspective on comics and literature interactions it claims that the two artistic media have always maintained a mutual emulation for as long as they have coexisted in media culture to demonstrate this the present research does not focus on literary adaptations in comics form but rather on a literary corpus that remains virtually unexplored comics related novels the purpose of this volume is to inventory french comics related novels and to study them within the limits of the french speaking world this book pieces together a literary history of bande dessinée through its novels from the nineteenth to twenty first centuries although the comic strip including the aptly named graphic novel has sometimes been regarded as the disciple of an unsurpassable literary model do these under studied adaptations in novel form not rather indicate a mutual relationship or even an emulation between the two media

????????????? 2006-12 cultural encounters in translated children's literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another the core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation locale or country are constructed in translated children's literature with the translation of australian children's fiction into french serving as a case study issues examined include the selection of books for translation the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry the packaging of translations and the importance of titles blurbs and covers the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children intertextual references the function of the translation in the target culture didactic and pedagogical aims euphemistic language and explicitation and literariness in translated texts the findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of australia in french translations reveal a preponderance of traditional eurocentric signifiers that identify australia with the outback the antipodes the exotic the wild the unknown the void the end of the world the young and innocent nation and the far west contemporary signifiers that construct australia as urban multicultural aboriginal worldly and inharmonious are seriously under represented the study also shows that french translations are conventional conservative and didactic showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity with systematic manipulation of australian referents betraying a perception of australia as antipodean rural exoticism the significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu especially through translated children's literature
