pass in obstetrics and gynaecology has been fully revised to provide postgraduate students with the latest information in the field each topic is presented as a case based rather than a disease based discussion covering results from recent clinical trials and detailing the most advanced treatment modalities extensive references for further study are included in each chapter designed as a learning tool the new edition features osces sbas mcqs and emqs all with detailed answers and clear explanations to help students prepare for examinations the comprehensive text is enhanced further by more than 150 clinical photographs diagrams and tables to assist learning key points case based review of latest information in obstetrics and gynaecology features osces sbas mcqs and emqs with clear answers and explanations extensive references included for each topic previous edition 9789350257210 published in 2013 this volume looks at how accumulation in postcolonial capitalism blurs the boundaries of space institutions forms financial regimes labour processes and economic segments on one hand and creates zones and corridors on the other it draws our attention to the peculiar but structurally necessary coexistence of both primitive and virtual modes of accumulation in the postcolony from these two major inquiries it develops a new understanding of postcolonial capitalism the case studies in this volume discuss the production of urban spaces of capital extraction institutionalization of postcolonial finance capital gendering of work forms establishment of new forms of labour formation of and changes in caste and racial identities and networks and securitization and thereby confirm that no study of contemporary capitalism is complete without thoroughly addressing the postcolonial condition by challenging the established dualities between citizenship based civil society and welfare based political society exploring critically the question of colonial and postcolonial difference and foregrounding the material processes of accumulation against the culturalism of postcolonial studies this volume redefines postcolonial studies in south asia and beyond it is invaluable reading for students and scholars of south asian studies sociology cultural and critical anthropology critical and praxis studies and political science the present volume fulfils a felt need for a comprehensive and regionous analysis of various aspects of the economy of west bengal such as agriculture and rural progress industry human development and migration the book would be of interest to a wide cross section of readership particularly economists planners and social researchers this manual is a complete guide to surgical anatomy for undergraduate and postgraduate medical students beginning with an overview of general anatomy the next chapters each discuss a different section of the body from superior and inferior extremities to abdomen thorax and head neck and brain the following chapters cover histology genetics embryology and imaging with a final section on special topics for postgraduate students preparing for examinations every chapter features an outline of the topic short notes points to remember and explanatory notes and concludes with surface most high and middle income countries showed symptoms of skill biased technological change in the 1980s india a low income country did not perhaps because india s traditionally controlled economy may have limited the transfer of technologies from abroad however the economy underwent a sharp reform and a manufacturing boom in the 1990s raising the possibility that technology absorption may have accelerated during the past decade the authors investigate the hypothesis that skill biased technological change did in fact arrive in india in the 1990s using panel data disaggregated by industry and state from the annual survey of industry these data confirm that while the 1980s were a period of falling skills demand the 1990s showed generally rising demand for skills with variation across states they find that increased output and capital skill complementarity appear to be the best explanations of skill upgrading in the 1990s skill upgrading did not occur in the same set of industries in india as it did in other countries suggesting that increased demand for skills in indian manufacturing is not due to the international diffusion of recent vintages of skill biased technologies
