Critical Earthquake Response of Elastic-Plastic Structures Under Near-Fault or Long-Duration Ground Motions: Closed-Form Approach via Impulse Input 2015-12-22

the specialty section earthquake engineering is one branch of frontiers in built environment and welcomes critical and in depth submissions on earthquake ground motions and their effects on buildings and infrastructures manuscripts should yield new insights and ultimately contribute to a safer and more reliable design of building structures and infrastructures the scope includes the characterization of earthquake ground motions e g near fault far fault short period long period their underlying properties their intrinsic relationship with structural responses and the true behaviors of building structures and infrastructures under risky and uncertain ground motions more specific topics include recorded ground motions generated ground motions response spectra stochastic modeling of ground motion critical excitation geotechnical aspects soil mechanics soil liquefaction soil structure interactions pile foundations earthquake input energy structural control passive control active control base isolation steel structures reinforced concrete structures wood structures building retrofit structural optimization uncertainty analysis robustness analysis and redundancy analysis this ebook includes four original research papers in addition to the specialty grand challenge article on the critical earthquake response of elastic plastic structures under near fault or long duration ground motions which were published in the specialty section earthquake engineering in the early stage of dynamic nonlinear response analysis of structures around 1960s a simple hysteretic structural model and a simple sinusoidal earthquake ground motion input were dealt with together with random inputs the steady state response was tackled by an equivalent linearization method developed by Caughey Iwan and others in fact the resonance plays a key role in the earthquake resistant design and it has a strong effect even in case of near fault ground motions in order to draw the steady state response curve and investigate the resonant property two kinds of repetition have to be introduced one is a cycle for one forced input frequency of the initial guess of the steady state response amplitude the construction of the equivalent linear model the analysis of the steady state response amplitude using the equivalent linear model and the update of the equivalent linear model based on the computed steady state response amplitude the other is the sweeping over a range of forced input frequencies this process is quite tedious four original research papers included in this ebook propose a new approach to overcome this difficulty kojima and takewaki demonstrated that the elastic plastic response as continuation of free vibrations under impulse input can be derived in a closed form by a sophisticated energy approach without solving directly the equations of motion as differential equations while as pointed out above the approach based on the equivalent linearization method requires the repetition of application of the linearized equations the method by kojima and takewaki does not need any repetition the double impulse triple impulse and multiple impulses enable us to describe directly the critical timing of impulses resonant frequency which is not easy for the sinusoidal and other inputs without a repetitive procedure it is important to note that while most of the previous methods employ the equivalent linearization of the structural model with the input unchanged the method treated in this ebook transforms the input into a series of impulses with the structural model unchanged this characteristic guarantees high accuracy and reliability even in the large plastic deformation range the approach presented in this ebook is an epoch making accomplishment to open the door for simpler and deeper understanding of structural reliability of built environments in the elastic plastic range

in this detailed historical and sociological study of the development of scientific ideas jonathan harwood argues that there is no such thing as a unitary scientific method driven by an internal logic rather there are national styles of science that are defined by different values norms assumptions research traditions and funding patterns the first book length treatment of genetics in germany styles of scientific thought demonstrates the influence of culture on science by comparing the american with the german scientific traditions harwood examines the structure of academic and research institutions the educational backgrounds of geneticists and cultural traditions among many factors to explain why the american approach was much more narrowly focussed than the german this tremendously rich book fills a gap between histories of the physical sciences in the weimar republic and other works on the humanities and the arts during the intellectually innovative 1920s and it will interest european historians as well as sociologists and philosophers of science this ebook is the third in a series of books on the critical earthquake response of elastic or elastic plastic structures under near fault or long duration ground motions and includes four original research papers which were published in the specialty section earthquake engineering in frontiers in built environment several extensions of the first ebook and the second ebook are included here the first article is on the earthquake resilience of residential houses after repeated ground motions with high intensity the 2016 kumamoto earthquake brought a significant impact on the earthquake resilience of residential houses under repeated ground motions with high intensity in a few days the necessary strength upgrade withstanding two repeated high intensity ground motions was found to be 1.5 the second article is concerned with the smart enhancement of earthquake resilience of building structures under both near fault and long duration ground motions a hybrid system of base isolation and building connection control was proposed and its earthquake resilience to near fault and long duration ground motions was evaluated by a double impulse and a multiple impulse it was demonstrated that the base isolation is effective for near fault ground motions and the building connection system using passive dampers is effective for long duration ground motions the third article is related to the robustness evaluation of elastic plastic base isolated high rise buildings under resonant near fault ground motions the robustness function was introduced to evaluate quantitatively the robustness of elastic plastic base isolated high rise buildings the fourth article is an extension of the previously proposed energy balance approach to a bilinear elastic plastic single degree of freedom system under a long duration sinusoidal ground motion a historical difficulty in nonlinear vibration posed by Caughey 1960 and Iwan 1961 has been overcome in a smart manner after half a century the approach presented in this ebook together with the previous ebooks is an epoch making accomplishment to open the door for simpler and deeper understanding of structural reliability and resilience of built environments in the elastic plastic and nonlinear range originally published in 1991 this study examines the views of politics presented by young people in contemporary Britain Bhavnani argues that previous studies of youth and youth culture were limited by too great a reliance on simple survey techniques and by lack of attention to conceptions of politics amongst young people and to politics as a series of lived relationships rather than a set of external objects instead she uses ethnographic approaches and open response interviewing within the broad theoretical framework of social representations the political is taken to refer to the ways in which people regulate and attempt to regulate with a view to challenging unequal social relationships within this the specific issues examined are employment unemployment youth training schemes democracy and voting racism and marriage bhavnani s analysis organised by themes such as disposable income and social and personal control tackles questions of power in the research process and a notion of discursive configurations as distinct from social representations
