winner of the Pen Ackerley Prize longlisted for the 2019 Pen Open Book Award devastating and lyrical The New York Times suspenseful and affecting the New Yorker from the celebrated poet behind Bone a collection of poems that tells a story of coming of age uncovering the cruelty and beauty of the world going under and finding redemption through her signature sharp searing poems this is the story of yrsa daley ward and all the things that happened even the terrible things and God there were terrible things it's about her childhood in the northwest of England with her beautiful careworn mother Marcia the man formerly known as Dad half fun half frightening and her little brother Roo who sees things written in the stars it's also about the surreal magic of adolescence about growing up and discovering the power and fear of sexuality about pitch gray days of pills and powder and connection it's about damage and pain but also joy with raw intensity and shocking honesty the terrible is a collection of poems that tells the story of what it means to lose yourself and find your voice you may not run away from the thing that you are because it comes and comes and comes as sure as you breathe

I'll Be Okay (and Other Lies I've Told Myself)

2018-06-18

sometimes the person you deceive the most is yourself the poems in this book range from my freshman to senior year of high school through writing this book i hope to connect with those similar to myself to let them know that they are not alone poetry has always been a mechanism for exploiting the truth to reveal what is truly inside maybe you'll learn something new about yourself if you're afraid to write it that's a good sign i suppose you know you're writing the truth when you're terrified yrsa daley ward

The Black Geographic

the contributors to the black geographic explore the theoretical innovations of black geographies scholarship and how it approaches blackness as historically and spatially situated in studies that span from oakland to the alabama black belt to senegal to brazil the contributors draw on ethnography archival records digital humanities literary criticism and art to show how understanding the spatial dimensions of black life contributes to a broader understanding of race and space they examine key sites of inquiry black spatial imaginaries resistance to racial violence the geographies of racial capitalism and struggles over urban space throughout the contributors demonstrate that blackness is itself a situating and place making force even as it is shaped by spatial processes and diasporic routes whether discussing eighteenth and nineteenth century abolitionist print records or migration and surveillance in niger this volume demonstrates that black geographies is a mode of analyzing blackness that fundamentally challenges the very foundations of the field of geography and its historical entwinement with colonialism enslavement and imperialism in short it marks a new step in the evolution of the field contributors anna livia brand c n e corbin lindsey dillon chiyuma elliot ampson hagan camilla hawthorne matthew jordan miller kenyatta jovan scott lewis judith madera jordanna matlon solange muñoz diana negrín danielle purifoy sharita towne

Home is Where the Mic Is 2019-03-18

this anthology presents the work of twenty four young spoken word poets from south africa with a sprinkling of guests from the united states britain and australia the experience of black youth in societies polarized by racism inequality and gender violence whilst at the same time struggling to come to terms with love sex and all the other basic needs of young people makes for fascinating reading the inventive graphic layout is a fine addition to a stand out volume home is where the mic is was conceived as a collaboration with word n sound a popular johannesburg spoken word platform the intention was to give hitherto only stage poets an opportunity to test their work on the page and confound the eurocentric critics of the new wave of performance poetry who decry its energy and breaking down of artificial definitions of poetry this is south african poetry standing on it s own two feet

Situating Scandinavian Poetry in the Computational Network Environment

how to grasp poetry in its contemporary digital situation a situation wherein poetry travels across digital and analoge media platforms and intended or not collaborates with computers situating scandinavian poetry in the computational network environment investigates how heterogeneous forms of poetry in scandinavia interact with and work in a digital media environment how digital programmable and network media intervene with and shape new poetic forms or remediate older forms of poetry and how digital and digitalized poetry through its self reflexivity sheds light on digital media technology and its role for poetry and potentially for literature and aesthetics more in general in doing so it also argues for the importance of close reading poetry in digital media it includes an historical and theoretical approach to poetry in digital media and analysis of poetic works in scandinavia the book is written within the framework of posthumanism and what n katerine hayles calls technogenesis and makes up the argument that contemporary poetry constitutes and is constituted by a computational network environment of human and non human subjects wherein poems travels in an egalitarian media ecology the book is relevant for researchers and students in the field of poetry students and researchers in the field of literary studies media studies and digital culture studies and teachers interested in presenting newer forms of poetry for their students
