this edited book uses the concept of diversity in child foreign language education as a major organizing principle since a foreign language most typically english is taught globally to an increasing number of children the variability in the process and varied learning outcomes are inescapable phenomena this book has been constructed on the premise that heterogeneity first concerns young language learners who due to the disparity in the pace of development need appropriately tailored educational solutions and second it refers to a diversity of contexts in which learning takes place the contexts can be defined on a macroscale e.g. different countries mesoscale e.g. different institutions and microscale e.g. specific learner groups the book consists of four thematic strands in part one the learner internal causes of heterogeneity of young language learners are clarified part two presents a sample of classroom studies in which learner variables such as gender learner preferences and special needs are taken into account part three looks at teaching materials and how they meet learners needs finally part four highlights diversity issues that teachers should be prepared to face
