thomas campion milton crashaw herbert bourne walter savage landor all these poets between them spanning the period from the elizabethan to the victorian age wrote a substantial body of latin verse in addition to their better known english poetry representing part of the vast and almost unexplored body of neo latin literature which appealed to an international reading public throughout europe the latin poetry of these english poets is of particular interest when it is set against the background of their writings in their own tongue this collection examines the extent to which our judgment of a poet is altered by an awareness of his latin works in some we find prefigured themes which were later treated in their english verse others wrote latin poetry throughout their lives and give evidence in their latin poetry of interests which do not find expression in their english compositions this volume is a valuable resource for students of both latin and english literature this study constructs a reading of old english poetry which takes up issues in poststructuralist theory including intertextuality work versus text and the author the modern reader knows this literature as a discrete number of poems set up and printed in units punctuated as modern sentences and with titles inserted by modern editors carol braun pasternack offers an alternative approach which takes into account the format of the verse as it exists in the manuscripts using the term inscribed to define texts which are situated between oral inheritance and print in a detailed examination of texts throughout the canon she explores the ways in which readers construct poems in the process of reading and in addition she extends her analysis to the question of authorship arguing that the texts do not imply an author but rather imply tradition as the

this illuminating study examines elizabeth bishop s rhetorical strategies and the way they shape the formal and thematic movements of her poetry and stories unlike other recent studies of bishop doreski s does not concern itself primarily with her visual imagery but rather deals with her poetry as a series of linguistic strategies designed to create the maximum illusion of representation while resisting the romantic devices of self revelation and solipsistic narration doreski argues that bishop takes advantage of the inadequacies of language and with a postmodern sense of limitation explores the gaps and silences narrative must bridge with the mundane the patently inadequate leaving an air of emotional intimacy without committing itself to the banality of full exposure this study finds the poems and stories mutually illuminating but while moving back and forth among her various works acknowledges the intelligent ordering of the volumes bishop published in her lifetime
