Foreign Service Manual 1949 contains a compendium of the most frequently used data in day to day telecommunications engineering work tables graphs figures formulae nomograms performance curves standards highlights constants and statistics designed for easy and rapid access comprehensive reference for designing building purchasing using or maintaining all kinds of telecommunications systems central source of information on transmission switching traffic engineering numbering signaling noise modulation and forward error correction

Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series 1978 lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the nasa scientific and technical information database

The Complete NPA User's Manual 2005 nanoparticles may be used in industrial processes incorporated into consumer products or applied as biomedical agents isotopic radio labeling is one of the most powerful methods for nanoparticle tracing in experimental studies this book presents an introduction to some commonly used nanomaterials describes various methods with which they may be radiolabeled and provides illustrative examples of applications of the labeled particles finally it discusses the use of nanomaterials in radiotherapy the stable isotope labeling technique and operational health and safety aspects related to the manipulation of nanoparticles in controlled areas the book will appeal to anyone involved in nanotechnology molecular imaging radiochemistry and nanomedicine

National Center For Education Statistics, User's Manual, Schools and Staffing Survey, 1993-94 Schools and Staffing Survey: Data File User's Manual, Vol. 1: Survey Documentation, October 1996 1996 a number of metrics for assessing human thermal response to climatic conditions have been proposed in scientific literature over the last decades they aim at describing human thermal perception of the thermal environment to which an individual or a group of people is exposed more recently a new type of discomfort index has been proposed for describing in a synthetic way long term phenomena starting from a systematic review of a number of long term global discomfort indices they are then contrasted and compared on a reference case study in order to identify their similarities and differences and strengths and weaknesses based on this analysis a new short term local discomfort index is proposed for the american adaptive comfort model finally a new and reliable long term general discomfort index is presented it is delivered in three versions and each of them is suitable to be respectively coupled with the fanger the european adaptive and the american adaptive comfort models

ADP Planning 1988 this report documents a study that investigated permeability as an indicator of the general durability of hydraulic cement concrete since many concrete deterioration mechanisms depend on the ingress of moisture and other materials into the concrete it was theorized that permeability might be a good indicator of durability potential during the project it was determined that sorptivity is the most relevant transport characteristic of the concrete a test method for sorptivity was therefore developed which has two different setups in order to better reproduce the exposure condition being simulated user friendly software conlife was then developed for estimating the service life of concrete pavements and bridge decks exposed to sulfate attack and freeze thaw deterioration
