levels traditional quilts serve many purposes over the course of a useful life beginning as a beautiful bed covering a quilt may later function as a ground cover at picnics until years of wear relegate it to someone s ragbag for scrap uses observing this life cycle led authors john forrest and deborah blincoe to the idea that quilts like living things have a natural history that can be studied scientifically they explore that natural history through an examination of the taxonomy morphology behavior and ecology of quilts in their native environment the homes of humans who make use keep and bestow them the taxonomy proposed by forrest and blincoe is rooted in the mechanics of replicating quilts so that it can be used to understand evolutionary and genetic relationships between quilt types the morphology section anatomizes normal and abnormal physical features of quilts while the section on conception and birth in the life cycle discusses how the underlying processes of replication intersect with environmental factors to produce tangible objects this methodology is applicable to many kinds of crafts and will be of wide interest to students of folklore anthropology and art history case studies of traditional quilts and their makers in the catskills and appalachia add a warm human dimension to the book sara diepersloot author of the popular simple style presents belong to easily recognizable corporate social groups who is a true jordanian who is a true bedouin these questions according to layne are examples of a kind of pigeonholing that has distorted the reality of jordanian national politics in developing an alternate approach she shows that the fluid social identities of jordan emerge from an ongoing dialogue among tribespeople members of the intelligentsia hashemite rulers and western social scientists many commentators on social identity in the middle east limit their studies to the village level but layne s goal is to discover how the identity building processes of the locality and of the nation condition each other she finds that the tribes creates their own cultural homes through a dialogue with official nationalist rhetoric and jordanian urbanites while king hussein in turn maintains the idea of the homeland in many ways that are powerfully influenced by the tribespeople the identities so formed resemble the shifting irregular shapes of postmodernist landscapes but hussein and the jordanian people are also beginning to use a classically modernist linear narrative to describe themselves layne maintains however that even with this change jordanian identities will remain resistant to all or nothing descriptions linda l layne is alma and h erwin hale teaching professor of humanities and social sciences in the
