the pathfinder or the inland sea is a historical novel by james fenimore cooper first published in 1840 it is the fourth novel cooper wrote featuring natty bumppo his fictitious frontier hero and the third chronological episode of the leatherstocking tales the inland sea of the title is lake ontario composition the pathfinder was written 13 years after natty bumpo had ended his career in the prairie cooper had questioned the wisdom of reviving this hero and he was at the time engaged in fierce litigations with newspapers the adventures of the plot on the water take authority from the fact that cooper had as midshipman actually seen service on lake ontario plot the pathfinder shows natty at his old trick of guiding tender damsels through the dangerous woods and the siege at the blockhouse and the storm on lake ontario are considerably like other of cooper s sieges and storms natty in this novel commonly called la longue carabine keeps in a hardy middle age his simple and honest nature which is severely tested by his love for a young girl she is a conventional heroine of romance a certain soft amiability about her turns for a time all the thoughts of the scout to the world of domestic affections more talkative than ever before he reveals new mental and moral traits with the same touch of realism which had kept uncas and cora apart in the last of the mohicans cooper separates these lovers and sends natty s romantic interest to the arms of a younger suitor restoring the hero to his home in the wilderness it is the only book in the leatherstocking series to show natty bumpo in love and the first of cooper s books which made important imaginative use of the great lakes james fenimore cooper september 15 1789 september 15 1851 was a prolific and popular american writer of the early 19th century his historical romances of frontier and indian life in the early american days created a unique form of american literature he lived most of his life in cooperstown new york which was founded by his father william on property that he owned cooper was a lifelong member of the episcopal church and in his later years contributed generously to it he attended yale university for three years where he was a member of the linonian society but was expelled for misbehavior before embarking on his career as a writer he served in the u s navy as a midshipman which greatly influenced many of his novels and other writings the novel that launched his career was the spy a tale about counterespionage set during the revolutionary war and published in 1821 3 he also wrote numerous sea stories and his best known works are five historical novels of the frontier period known as the leatherstocking tales among naval historians cooper s works on the early u s navy have been well received but they were sometimes criticized by his contemporaries among his most famous works is the romantic novel the last of the mohicans often regarded as his masterpiece a novel of the first voyage of columbus written with the journal of columbus before him mercedes of castile was first published in 1492 james fenimore cooper 1789 1851 was an american novelist travel writer and social critic regarded as the first great american writer of fiction he was famed for his action packed plots and his vivid if somewhat idealized portrayal of american life in the forest and at sea every one knows that columbus had seamen in his vessels and that he brought some of the natives of the islands he had discovered with him to spain the reader is now made much more intimately acquainted with certain of these individuals we will venture to say than he can be possibly by the perusal of any work previously written j fenimore cooper

the prairie a tale 1827 is a novel by james fenimore cooper the third novel plot the story opens with ishmael his family ellen and abiram slowly making their way across the virgin prairies of the midwest looking for a homestead just two years after the louisiana purchase and during the time of the lewis and clark expedition they meet the trapper natty bumppo who has left his home in new york state to find a place where he cannot hear the sound of people cutting down the forests in the years between his other adventures and this novel he tells us only that he has walked all the way to the pacific ocean and seen all the land between the coasts citation needed a heroic feat considering lewis and clark hadn t yet completed the same trek that night a band of teton warriors steal all of ishmael s animals stranding the immigrants the doctor returns the next morning along with his donkey the trapper helps the family relocate their wagons including one with mysterious contents to a nearby butte where they will be safer when the tetons return middleton joins the group when he stumbles upon the trapper and paul before they return to the butte ishmael and his family go looking for his eldest son asa whom they find murdered the trapper paul and middleton return to camp find inez whom abiram and ishmael had been keeping captive and flee with her and ellen ishmael chases them until the tetons capture the trapper and his crew they escape the tetons and then ishmael forms an alliance with the indians the indians attempt to recapture the trapper by surrounding them with a prairie fire but the trapper lights a backfire and saves everyone they meet up with hard heart a pawnee indian who survived the fire wrapped in a buffalo skin and attempt to escape to his village the tetons capture them ishmael demands the trapper inez and ellen for helping the tetons but is denied and turned away mahtoree intends to take inez and ellen for his new wives le balafre attempts to spare hard heart s life by making hard heart his son hard heart refuses kills weucha and flees the village when hard heart s pawnee warriors attack the teton village the trapper and his friends escape only to be captured by ishmael the trapper is accused of asa s death until abiram s guilt is discovered abiram is executed and ishmael s family returns east without inez ellen or the doctor middleton inez paul and ellen travel back to louisiana and kentucky respectively while the trapper joins a pawnee village located on a tributary of the missouri river middleton and paul return just in time to witness the trapper s noble death and bury him treatment of indians as with the last of the mohicans one of cooper s major themes in the prairie is the idea of a noble savage the book contrasts hard heart and the pawnee tribe who were at peace with the white settlers to the warlike tetons the tetons are categorically described as cunning crafty deceitful loathsome and dirty hard heart is brave fierce and fights to protect his honor he refuses to abandon his tribe even if he loses his life for it in contrast le balafre once abandoned his tribe to become a teton thus saving his own life in the end hard heart is alive while weucha and mahtoree are dead the doctor horrified at the possibility of being forced to marry an indian wife refers to them as a different species not homo sapiens the tetons are frequently referred to as looking like snakes or with other snake symbolism such as having forked tongues although cooper s indians are frequently stereotypical so are his white characters despite sometimes referring prejudicially to indians as subhuman he still presents them in a complex light a mixture of human and devilish characteristics amidst what cooper describes as primitive or dirty he lauds their honor hospitality laws etc

Jack Tier or the Florida Reef is a novel by James Fenimore Cooper first published in 1848 by New York publisher Hurd and Houghton. Set during the Mexican American War, the novel relates a twenty-year homosocial relationship verging on the homoerotic between a sailor and the captain of the boat, but by the end of the novel the sailor is the captain's wife, transforming the story into one of heterosexual love and passion. The novel was first published serially in a magazine under the title Rose Budd in 1846. When commenting on the novel in the context of other novels about the Mexican American War, critic Jaime Javier Rodríguez describes the novel as an obscure work not always found in library stacks; thus it remains largely unread, but it too deserves attention. Garden Key Light on Garden Key in the Dry Tortugas was used as the setting for the novel. James Fenimore Cooper (September 15, 1789 – September 14, 1851) was an American writer of the first half of the 19th century. His historical romances draw a picture of frontier and American Indian life in the early American days, which created a unique form of American literature. He lived most of his life in Cooperstown, New York, which was founded by his father, William, on property that he owned. Cooper was a lifelong member of the Episcopal Church and contributed generously to it; he attended Yale University for three years, where he was a member of the Linonian Society. Cooper served in the U.S. Navy as a midshipman, which greatly influenced many of his novels and other writings. The novel that launched his career was The Spy, a tale about counter-espionage set during the American Revolutionary War and published in 1821. He also wrote numerous sea stories, and his best-known works are five historical novels of the frontier period known as the Leatherstocking Tales. Cooper's works on the U.S. Navy have been well-received among naval historians, but they were sometimes criticized by his contemporaries. Among his most famous works is the romantic novel The Last of the Mohicans, often regarded as his masterpiece, although it was mercilessly mocked by Mark Twain.

The Two Admirals 2017-11-08

The final novel in the award-winning George Miles cycle, A Triumphant Finale, is one of the most intense series of novels ever written. Mondo, the stunning conclusion to Dennis Cooper's five-book cycle, earned its author the accolade of a disquieting genius by Vanity Fair and praise for his elegant prose and literary lawlessness from the New York Times. Breathtaking and mesmerizing, it is the culmination of Cooper's explorations into sex and death, youth culture, and the search for the ineffable object of desire. Cooper has taken his familiar themes—strangely irresistible and interchangeable young men, passion that crosses into murder, the lure of drugs, the culpabilities of authorship, and the inexact, haunting communication of feeling—and melded them into a novel of flawless form and immense power, set in a spare, smoke- and mirror-filled world of secret websites, goth bands, Satanism, pornography, and outsider art. Period is a literary disappearing act as mysterious as it is logical, obsessive, beautiful, and darkly comic. Period is a stunning achievement from one of America's finest writers, a fascinating, intricately crafted jewel of a book. It's a book one could read over and over and never exhaust. San Francisco Chronicle book review: "To read Period is to witness the idea of the novel itself imploding to glimpse the end of language, to become aware of literature's dizzying possibilities, the guardian, an elegy to the nature of obsessive love the need to feel cooper is a profoundly original american visionary and the most important transgressive literary artist since burroughs salon haunting details
