Expedition Agroparks 2011-05-25

this book is the result of several years of expedition into the development of metropolitan foodclusters the author s fascination for the agricultural landscapes in and around metropolises led him to the conclusion that improving the efficiency of agriculture is the most effective way to safeguard the quality of such landscapes the wasteful modes of production developed in the past 150 years have led to a serious decline in both the surface area and the quality of the highly valued landscapes closing the loops within the agricultural production system and increasing their productivity is therefore the best remedy to arrest this decline after analysing the development of agriculture against the background of the urbanisation process in today's network society the focus shifts to research by design on agroparks these are spatial clusters of agrofuctions and the related economic activities agroparks bring together high productivity plant based and animal based production and processing along industrial lines combined with the input of high levels of knowledge and technology the cycles of water minerals and gases are skillfully closed and the use of fossil energy is minimised particularly by the processing of various flows of waste products and by products an agropark may therefore be seen as the application of industrial ecology in the agrosector the scientific aim of this book is to find answers to the questions of whether agroparks contribute to sustainable development in metropolises how an agropark is developed and how it must be designed under examination are seven designs for agroparks which were created from 2002 onwards in the netherlands china and india

This book puts military doctrine into a wider perspective, drawing on military history, philosophy, and political science. Military doctrines are institutional beliefs about what works in war, given the trauma of 9/11 and the ensuing war on terror. Serious divergences over what the message of the new military doctrine ought to be were expected around the world however such questions are often drowned in ferocious meta doctrinal disagreements what is a doctrine after all this book provides a theoretical understanding of such questions divided into three parts the author investigates the historical roots of military doctrine and explores its growth and expansion until the present day and goes on to analyse the main characteristics of a military doctrine using a multidisciplinary approach the book concludes that doctrine can be utilized in three key ways as a tool of command as a tool of change and as a tool of education this book will be of much interest to students of military studies civil military relations strategic studies and war studies as well as to students in professional military education maps play an indispensable role in indigenous peoples efforts to secure land rights in the americas and beyond yet indigenous peoples did not invent participatory mapping techniques on their own they appropriated them from techniques developed for colonial rule and counterinsurgency campaigns and refined by anthropologists and geographers through a series of historical and contemporary examples from nicaragua canada and mexico this book explores the tension between military applications of participatory mapping and its use for political mobilization and advocacy the authors analyze the emergence of indigenous territories as spaces defined by a collective way of life and as a particular kind of battleground
