terminology was first published in 1813 and designed as a reference work for shipbuilders and navigators it was compiled by the naval historian william burney and presented a revised and expanded version of the classic universal marine dictionary originally published in 1769 by the poet and lexicographer william falconer 1732 89 the dictionary with over 800 pages presents technical data on shipbuilding navigation the operation of ships weaponry and provisions as well as historical legal and medical information a complex and hypnotic masterpiece of orchestral texture la mer the sea features marvelously fluid rhythm and shimmering evocations of light color and the sea itself this miniature score version is an unabridged republication of an authoritative french edition students and music lovers will find it a convenient and inexpensive choice for use in the classroom or concert hall despite a growing interest for space in language most research has focused on spatial markers specifying the static or dynamic relationships among entities verbs prepositions postpositions case markings little attention has been paid to the very properties of spatial entities their status in linguistic descriptions and their implications for spatial cognition and its development in children this topic is at the center of this book that opens a new field by sketching some major theoretical and methodological directions for future research on spatial entities brought together linguistic descriptions of spatial systems formal accounts of linguistic data and experimental findings from psycholinguistic studies all couched within a wide cross linguistic perspective such an interdisciplinary approach provides a rich overview of the many questions that remain unanswered in relation to spatial entities while also throwing a new light on previous research focusing on related topics concerning space and or the relation between language and cognition first english language publication of the great popular historian s description of the sea this monograph explores the ways in which canonical francophone algerian authors writing in the late colonial period 1945 1962 namely kateb yacine mohammed dib mouloud feraoun mouloud mammeri and assia djebar approached the representation of algerian women through literature the book initially argues that a masculine domination of public fields of representation in algeria contributed to a postcolonial marginalization of women as public agents however it crucially also argues that the canonical writers of the period who were mostly male both textually acknowledged their inability to articulate the experiences and subjectivity of the feminine other and deployed a remarkable variety of formal and conceptual innovations in producing evocations of algerian femininity that subvert the structural imbalance of masculine symbolic hegemony though it does not shy from investigating those aspects of its corpus that produce ideologically conditioned masculinist representations the book chiefly seeks to articulate a shared reluctance concerning representativity a pessimism regarding the revolution s capacity to deliver change for women and an omnipresent subversion of masculine subjectivity in its canonical texts this is the perfect pocket reference for those learning french and you ll want to make sure it s packed
