this book addresses how to assess and instruct students while also honoring their cultural and linguistic backgrounds many individuals want to support their multilingual learners but do not have the language skills to work in a bilingual or dual language setting the chapters in this book examine assessment in classrooms where english is the language of instruction yet students are also encouraged to communicate in multiple languages the thesis of this book revolves around the idea that linguistically diverse learners may engage in critical thinking in ways that we may not anticipate students who are learning in an additional language do not need to catch up assessment should instead measure the new ways that students are interacting with the world this book helps you discover the many ways to help students develop as critically thinking readers writers and speakers there is a scarcity of research addressing literacy among linguistically diverse learners within math and science the information contained in this book will hopefully advance a dialogue between teachers and linguistically diverse students as they read and write multiple genres together this book also encourages teachers family and community members to come together to form supportive environments where best practices are fostered some of the questions addressed by this book 1 how do i determine a student s strengths and needs if he or she is not talking in class in any language 2 do i teach monolingual and multilingual learners to read in similar ways 3 how can i support my students as they read math word problems 4 what do students need to know about the structures of science texts 5 how should we develop math and science literacy assessments 6 should i have specific language goals for students as speakers this book is based on the belief that decision making is perhaps the most critical of all teaching skills and that good assessments lie at the core of good decision making to become better teachers then teachers must learn to make informed decisions about both individual students learning decisions and about groups of students teaching decisions this book gives equal status to both types of decisions and shows how assessment is integral to both the organization of the book is sequential mirroring the way in which information should be used to make decisions it begins with a conceptual framework linking information to decision making then moves to the design of assessment instruments and the collection of assessment information then to the interpretation of assessment information and finally to reporting the results of both the assessment and the decision making process there is an emphasis throughout on linking why teachers assess with what and how they assess other key features include practical framework the book s framework corresponds to the framework that teachers use to grade their students conduct classroom behavior effort student motivation and achievement student learning unique chapters there are separate chapters on interpreting assessment information prior to decision making and on reporting assessment information to parents teachers and administrators flexibility because of its modest length and price and its practical focus on the links between assessment and everyday teacher decision making this text can be used either in full length assessment courses for teachers or to teach the assessment units in educational psychology or integrated methods courses
