common stocks as long term investments 1924 by edgar lawrence smith proved for the first time that stocks outperformed bonds in long term stock market investments before smith s work the prevailing wisdom regarding investing stated that bonds were a safer investment conservative investors would allocate a large portion of their investments to bonds relying on the annual rate of interest as a sure bet stocks on the other hand were viewed as risky speculations due to the market s volatility smith himself held that view before beginning the research for this book as he told his harvard class at their 50th reunion i tried to write a pamphlet on why bonds were the best form of long term investment but supporting evidence for this thesis could not be found edgar lawrence smith b 1882 d 1971 was a harvard educated economist and investment manager while working as an advisor to the brokerage firm low dixon company he began to look at the relative performance of bonds versus stocks through 11 case studies completed for common stocks as long term investments smith proved that the prevailing wisdom in favor of bonds over stocks was wrong in 10 out of the 11 cases a 10 000 investment in arbitrarily chosen stocks would have outperformed an equal investment in high grade bonds and in the 11th case the lower return was impacted by two market panics and inflation in the years 1866 1885 how does smith account for the better performance of stocks over time to begin stocks often grow with or even in excess of inflation returns on bonds on the other hand lose purchasing power over time due to inflation in addition the general march of progress through population growth and improved standards of living over time leads to greater demand for products and services the trajectory of progress often leads to growth that outpaces inflation making stocks a better long term investment smith s work supports a long term investment strategy he shows that over 15 years the value of stocks sees a loss only 1 1 of the time while they may be subject to short term fluctuations their long term reliability makes them a smart investment as part of a balanced portfolio smith does not advocate against bonds he merely suggests that investors give heavier weight to stocks than bonds rather than the other way around famous economists irving fisher and john maynard keynes praised the book keynes invited smith to join the royal economic society and fisher directly stated that he had more confidence in common stocks due to smith s work unfortunately smith irving keynes and the rest of the world were about to discover that while stocks were generally the best long term investments there could still be ruinous market fluctuations the wall street crash of 1929 was the ruin of many individuals and businesses keynes fortune was nearly wiped out irving lost over 100m in today s dollars and smith himself had to sell his own mutual fund firm investment managers company in the subsequent years smith focused instead on research and writing rather than working directly in the financial industry but the long term reliability of common stocks still holds even accounting for large market downturns a diversified investment portfolio weighted to common stocks is still the clear financial winner when we look at an investment strategy over decades while smith suffered from the crash of 29 along with the rest of the country including great economists his ideas have been backed up since he first published by alfred cowles in 1939 and again by rex sinquefeld in 1976 what drives innovation and entrepreneurship in india china and the united states our data rich and evidence based exploration of relationships among innovation entrepreneurship and economic growth yields theoretical models of economic growth in the context of macroeconomic factors because we know far too little about the key characteristics of chinese and indian entrepreneurs and the ways they innovate our balanced systematic comparison of entrepreneurship and innovation results in a new approach to looking at economic growth that can be used to model empirical data from other countries the importance of innovation and entrepreneurship to any economy has been recognized since the pioneering work of joseph schumpeter our analysis of the major factors that affect innovation and entrepreneurship in these three parts of the world us china and india provides a comprehensive view of their effects and their likely futures looks at elements important for innovation and entrepreneurship and compares them against each other within the three countries places theoretical modeling of economic growth in the context of the overall macroeconomic factors explores questions about the relationships among innovation entrepreneurship and economic growth in china india and the us

Sovereign Investment 2016-07-12

investing is one of the few areas in life where even very smart people let hope triumph over experience according to wall street journal investing colum nist spencer jakab most of us have no idea how much money we re leaving on the table or that the average saver doesn t come anywhere close to earning the average returns touted in those glossy brochures we re handicapped not only by psychological biases and a fear of missing out but by an industry with multimillion dollar marketing budgets and an eye on its own bottom line not yours unless you re very handy you probably don t know how to fix your own car or give a family member a decent haircut but most americans are expected to be part time fund managers with a steady livable pension check becoming a rarity we ve been entrusted with our own finances and for the most part failed miserably since leaving his job as a top rated stock ana lyst to become an investing columnist jakab has watched his readers and his family friends and colleagues make the same mistakes again and again he set out to evaluate the typical advice people get from the clearly risky to the seemingly safe to figure out where it all goes wrong and how they could do much better blending entertaining stories with some surprising research jakab explains how a typical saver could have a retirement nest egg twice as large by being cheap and lazy why investors who put their savings with a high performing mutual fund manager end up worse off than if they'd picked one who has struggled the best way to cash in on your hunch that a recession is looming how people who check their brokerage accounts frequently end up falling behind the market who isn't nearly as good at investing as the media would have you think he also explains why you should never trust a world cup predicting octopus why you shouldn't invest in companies with an x or a z in their names and what to do if a time traveler offers you economic news from the future whatever your level of expertise heads i win tails i win can help you vastly improve your odds of investment success
