since the time when psammetichos having become king desired to know what men had come into being first they suppose that the phrygians came into being before themselves but they themselves before all other men now psammetichos when he was not able by inquiry to find out any means of knowing who had come into being first of all men contrived a device of the following kind taking two newborn children belonging to persons of the common sort he gave them to a shepherd to bring up at the place where his flocks were with a manner of bringing up such as i shall say charging him namely that no man should utter any word in their presence and that they should be placed by themselves in a room where none might come and at the proper time he should bring them she goats and when he had satisfied them with milk he should do for them whatever else was needed regarded by many as the first major historian herodotus was a greek scholar and traveler who set down his impressions of foreign countries work publishers of the valley s mission is to bring long out of print manuscripts back to life regarded by many as the first major historian herodotus was a greek scholar and traveler who set down his impressions of foreign countries and his analysis of wars and other significant events in a relatively straightforward journalistic manner this volume contains herodotus views on egypt for centuries some of the the author s claims about egypt were regarded as far fetched but evidence has recently come to light that supports some of his long doubted account this series of publications from the british school of archaeology in egypt s egyptian research account offers a rich and detailed look at the archaeology and history of ancient egypt with contributions from leading scholars in the field these volumes cover a wide range of topics from the pyramids to the everyday lives of ordinary egyptians this work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public we appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant herodotus was born at halicarnassus on the southwest coast of asia minor in the early part of the fifth century b c of his life we know almost nothing except that he spent much of it traveling to collect the material for his writings and that he finally settled down at thurii in southern italy where his great work was composed he died in 424 b c the subject of the history of herodotus is the struggle between the greeks and the barbarians which he brings down to the battle of mycale in 479 b c the work as we have it is divided into nine books named after the nine muses but this division is probably due to the alexandrine grammarians his information he gathered mainly from oral sources as he traveled through asia minor down into egypt round the black sea and into various parts of greece and the neighboring countries the chronological narrative halts from time to time to give opportunity for descriptions of the country the people and their customs and previous history and the political account is constantly varied by rare tales and wonders among these descriptions of countries the most fascinating to the modern as it was to the ancient reader is his account of the marvels of the land of egypt from the priests at memphis heliopolis and the egyptian thebes he learned what he reports of the size of the country the wonders of the Nile the ceremonies of their religion the sacredness of their animals he tells also of the strange ways of the crocodile and of that marvelous bird the phoenix of dress and funerals and embalming of the eating of lotos and papyrus of the pyramids and the great labyrinth of their kings and queens and courtesans yet Herodotus is not a mere teller of strange tales however credulous he may appear to a modern judgment he takes care to keep separate what he knows by his own observation from what he has merely inferred and from what he has been told he is candid about acknowledging ignorance and when versions differ he gives both thus the modern scientific historian with other means of corroboration can sometimes learn from Herodotus more than Herodotus himself knew there is abundant evidence too that Herodotus had a philosophy of history the unity which marks his work is due not only to the strong Greek national feeling running through it the feeling that rises to a height in such passages as the descriptions of the battles of Marathon Thermopylae and Salamis but also to his profound belief in fate and in Nemesis to his belief in fate is due the frequent quoting of oracles and their fulfilment the frequent references to things foreordained by providence the working of Nemesis he finds in the disasters that befall men and nations whose towering prosperity awakens the jealousy of the gods the final overthrow of the Persians which forms his main theme is only one specially conspicuous example of the operation of this force from which human life can never free itself but above all he is the father of story tellers Herodotus is such simple and delightful reading says Jevons he is so unaffected and entertaining his story flows so naturally and with such ease that we have a difficulty in bearing in mind that over and above the hard writing which goes to make easy reading there is a perpetual marvel in the work of Herodotus it is the first artistic work in prose that Greek literature produced this prose work which for pure literary merit no subsequent work has surpassed than which later generations after using the pen for centuries have produced no prose more easy or more readable this was the first of histories and of literary prose regarded by many as the first major historian Herodotus was a Greek scholar and been given to the public concerning its people and government this has been to a large extent for political reasons in the interest of and by the inspiration of a government whose ideal policy is the extension of its sway over all countries from which substantial revenues can be derived with a powerful press and a great number of able writers at its command constantly waging a campaign as studied and often as unjust as any of our presidential contests with no counter campaign working against it only success could be expected articles thus inspired and published form the basis for others often written by conscientious but misled authors having held a diplomatic position in egypt during its modern crucial period i was in a position to learn the real facts it is thought necessary by those in power to excuse or in some manner justify the imposition upon this people of the grossly unjust burdens they are compelled by military force to sustain the old story of carrying the bible under the left arm and the sword in the right hand to christianize heathen people would not fit the case the impression of service rendered in some other manner must be given about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
