Women Empowerment: Challenges and Strategies

2019-11-30

the proposed edited book on women empowerment challenges and strategies deals with the problems associated with the women community suffering from marginalization and the ways to address their identity and human rights concerns the status of women in every nation was deprived and never considered they were considered as mere machines to fulfill mere different duties during ancient ages we can see the evolution of changing and taking new perspectives the concept of female in manusmriti and in puranas of considering them as dependents and deities is contradictory there are still places where women are still considered as deprived and are still under chains it is the duty of the privileged to empower the underprivileged women empowerment programs failed as they overlooked the structural factors that perpetuated oppression and exploitation the fulfillment of practical needs such as food health care and education cannot empower women unless the long term strategic needs are met the process of empowerment requires a transformation of structures of sub ordinance this book traces the evolution of indian women through the mists of history to the present efforts to empower them and give them their rightful place in society attempts in this direction have not been dramatic or aggressive but rather after the old indian fashion of combining chance with continuity it was gandhiji who brought a dramatic change among our women when at his bidding they came out in large numbers from the shelter of their homes to take their part in the struggle for india s freedom once the old shackles were removed it was no longer possible to replace them in the same way attempts were no doubt made to go back but they were bound to fail this book brings much information which will enlighten the reader s mind and give him and idea of what our women have done and are doing education as such results in positive externalities not only does it have an intrinsic value in the sense of the joy of learning reading etc but it also has instrumental social and process roles moreover education may spread through interpersonal motivation when one individual sends her child to school her neighbour is likely to do so as well women's education too often spreads this way more specifically through same sex effects i.e. an educated woman is far more likely to send her daughter to school than an uneducated woman also she is likely to maintain better conditions of nutrition and hygiene in her household and thereby improve her family's health Sen 1997 appeared to be significant social and political developments of 20th century marked a turning point in the history of unequal gender relations paving the way for a major civilizational transformation today in 21st century the concept of empowerment of women has become central to every development received wide acclamation in the 4th world conference on women held in Beijing in 1995 which observed that women empowerment and their full participation on the basis of equality in all spheres of society including participation in the decision making process and access to power are fundamental for the advancement of equality development and peace however the campaign for women empowerment became foremost feminist agenda since mid 1980s the concept of women empowerment as looked by Prof Amartya Sen is a process by which a woman is ensured with access and choice it is a process of equipping the women with power opportunities to assert for her rights and identity in the society it is against the practice of segregation and subjugation of women and makes an advocacy for the integration of women and identity formation by the women in the local national and the global forum however the entire process of women's journey from endowment to empowerment the picture looks quite gloomy as if their century's long struggle finds them in a whithered position to achieve genuine empowerment women of India have to swim upstream so as to be able to defeat the traditional forces of logocentrism of the norm based society this edited volume is concerned with issues pertaining to gender inequality and women empowerment one of the most urgent challenges now facing human kind is to halt and reverse the growing deterioration in the gender relations that has augmented social disharmony and imbalances every country large and small irrespective of its richness and culture is confronted with this basic human question of gender equality and gender justice with the emergence of globalization with free market economy gender issues effecting status of women and their empowerment question has taken a changed dimension attracting research concern and scholarly attention since many issues and current developments concerning status of women are now in the history of gender relations more research is needed to unfold the myth and reality this edited volume aims at and ready to tell how women empowerment has reached to its present state this volume also examines the rapid changes in gender relations since the 4th international conference on women at beijing in 1995 and defines the important shifts in the domain of gender equality and women s empowerment even in india the elite patriarch monopolizing state power once considered the driving force for gender equality are moving away from their commitment which was very much proved with the defeat of the women reservation bill in the parliament this exposes the approach of grand indian political patriarch to the whole question of gender equality and women empowerment leaving the space for civil society to intervene and act towards its defence in this volume attempt has been made to include and accommodate various issue and dimensions of gender relations gender inequality and gender gap national and international initiative to address growing societal insensitiveness towards the women the changing realities pertaining gender equality and women empowerment impacting their present status this volume however sought response to some fundamental question on the issue such as do women adequately figure in the development retaining their identity have the women came out of the cultural and environmental constraints to take effective roles in public domain at this backdrop the editors hope that this volume through empirical findings and theoretical insights of different authors contributors may provide answers to some aspects of these questions empowerment of women through gainful employment is a constituent as well as instrument of development in any country no country can be deemed developed if half of its population is severely disadvantaged in terms of basic needs livelihood options access to knowledge and political voice a natural corollary of ensuring gender equality is the elimination of gender discrimination women s lack of economic empowerment not only impedes growth and poverty reduction but also has a host of other negative impacts including less favourable education and health outcomes for children thus it is extremely important to ensure that women are economically socially and politically empowered effective and coordinated plans and programmes for the full implementation of women oriented policies require a clear research based knowledge of ground realities of the socio economic status of women particularly rural women this volume is the outcome of the findings of academicians and researchers from different disciplines the 11 papers included in this work throw light on various dimensions of women empowerment in india subject women s studies asian studies gender studies Ã Â Ã Â economic development poverty studies economics women's empowerment is a significant element of economic development (Duflo 2012) because most women in the developing world reside in male-headed households. Considering the role of men in advancing women's empowerment is an important research objective. In this note, we report results related to the take-up of a women's economic empowerment initiative aimed at sugarcane farmers in Uganda and focus on the agency of men in determining the household's participation. We also assess the impact of a couples-based workshop on project take-up. In this study, we partnered with Kakira Sugar Limited (KSL), a large sugar company near Jinja, Uganda, that sets the purchase price and buys most of its sugarcane from smallholder contract farmers who are mainly men. Though women participate in labor related to sugarcane, they are infrequently involved in any of the sugar-related marketing activities, meaning that men generally control the sugar-related income.

the economic and political empowerment of women continues to be a central focus for development agencies worldwide access to medical care education and employment as well as women s reproductive rights remain key factors effecting women s autonomy feminisms empowerment and development explores what women are doing to change their own personal circumstances whilst providing an in depth analysis of collective action and institutionalized mechanisms aimed at changing structural relations drawing on unique original research and approaching empowerment as a complex process of negotiation rather than a linear sequence of inputs and outcomes this crucial collection highlights the difficulty of creating common agendas for the advancement of women s power and rights and argues for a more nuanced context based approach to development theory and practice an indispensable text for anyone interested in gender and development this book shows that policies and approaches to development that view women as instrumental to other objectives will never promote women s empowerment as they fail to address the structures by which gender inequality is perpetuated over time
