1991 urban sanitation and solid waste sectors are under significant pressure in east africa due to the lack of competent institutional capacity and the growth of the region s urban population this book presents and applies an original analytical approach to assess the existing socio technical mixtures of waste and sanitation systems and to ensure wider access increase flexibility and ecological sustainability it shows how the problem is not the current diversity in waste and sanitation infrastructures and services and variety of types and scales of technology of formal and informal sector involvement and of management and ownership modes the book focuses instead on the lack of an integrative approach to managing and upgrading of the various waste and sanitation configurations and services so as to ensure wider access flexibility and sustainability for the low income populations who happen to be the main stakeholders this approach coined modernized mixtures serves as a nexus throughout the book the empirical core addresses the waste and sanitation challenges and debates at each scale from the micro level households to the macro level international support and is based on the results of a five year long interdisciplinary empirical research program it assesses the socio technical diversity in waste and sanitation and provides viable solutions to sanitation and waste management in east africa this book provides students researchers and professional in environmental technology sociology management and urban planning with an integrated analytical perspective on centralized and decentralized waste and sanitation configurations and tools for improvement in the technology policy and management of sanitation and solid waste sectors the workplace is the ideal environment for tying together management theory and practice and yet classes in many regular management development programs are conducted away from the work site and class sizes are so large that individual instruction is difficult to achieve in this book the authors seek effective ways to merge theory with workplace practice and advocate the modular preceptor method whereby participants work together in dyads and triads with a preceptor acting as advisor and instructor unlike traditional management development programs which do not usually lead to behavior changes the modular preceptor model has behavior change as the basic aim participants can remain at work while experiencing individualized learning developing problem solving skills and acquiring new knowledge which can be immediately applied to work situations various ways of learning such as passive lecture case study discussion and experiential role playing games sensitivity training are examined no single mode of learning can be comprehensive and adequate for all situations the authors contend however that experiential learning is most effective for increasing the will and competence to learn and for using what is learned to change manager behavior the purpose of the modular preceptor approach is not to present answers to specific managerial or organizational problems but to help the participant acquire new problem definition and problem solving skills and the confidence to apply them on the job this book also analyzes the contribution of the behavioral sciences to the philosophies and techniques behind management instruction and examines the role of the university in management development and the future direction of mba programs for anyone concerned with meaningful and effective management development this book is an invaluable resource this book reviews the performance and effectiveness of the community development quotas cdq programs that were formed as a result of the sustainable fisheries act of 1996 the cdq program is a method of allocating access to fisheries to eligible communities with the intent of promoting local social and economic conditions through participation in fishing related activities the book looks at those alaskan fisheries that have experience with cdqs such as halibut pollock sablefish and crab and comments on the extent to which the programs have met their objectivesâ helping communities develop ongoing commercial fishing and processing activities creating employment opportunities and providing capital for investment in fishing processing and support projects such as infrastructure it also considers how cdq type programs might apply in the western pacific with the increasing sophistication of urban rail networks the combined effects of rail transit on urban development are more and more complex and in depth and large scale rail transit construction and operation have placed new demands on planning construction investment and financing this main aim of these proceedings is to study and explore theoretical progress methodological innovation and lessons learned in aspects of the planning stage urban planning architectural design development and construction safety systems management support etc involved in the international economic integration studies of the central institute of economic management in vietnam against the background of accelerating globalization and growing economic interdependence in northeast asia over the past two decades including the recent global economic crisis this book sets out to examine the status and prospect of cross border cooperation it has synthesized diverse strands of discussion and different country perspectives to highlight the challenges and opportunities of collaborative regional development in northeast asia distinct from previous studies this book attempts to capture international national and local viewpoints in regional development practical experience across countries has been analyzed and consolidated to form the basis of a policy agenda for cross border cooperation combining an intimate knowledge of the region and different disciplinary perspectives this book offers a wealth of information statistical and illustrative materials and analyses across topics and countries of the region editors include won bae kim research advisor of the gyeonggi research institute and former senior fellow at the korean research institute for human settlements yue man yeung emeritus professor of geography and honorary fellow of the chinese university of hong kong and sang chuel choe former chairman of the presidential committee on regional development in south korea and professor emeritus of seoul national university this title was first published in 2003 development is a complex and heterogeneous phenomenon driven by the expansion of one or more sectors and their influence on the others it is the outcome of local interdependencies among firms households and institutions which give rise to specific territorial patterns of local systems policies of development cannot therefore restrict themselves to undifferentiated intervention from the centre to the periphery but must be able to stimulate and sustain endogenous bottom up growth by means of specific programmes thus individuals and organizations public or private interact take decisions and devise strategies in a context that is simultaneously co operative and competitive the first in a series this volume brings together a team of leading international social scientists from the igu study group on local development illustrated by a wide range of global case studies it analyses what knowledge is required for industrial production and how best to organize this knowledge embedded as it is in physical human and social capital it focuses on the formation of social capital and the various forms into which this may evolve in particular the sets of institutions which regulate relationships within and among firms work is constantly reshaped by technological progress new ways of production are adopted markets expand and societies evolve but some changes provoke more attention than others in part due to the vast uncertainty involved in making predictions about the future the 2019 world development report will study how the nature of work is changing as a result of advances in technology today technological progress disrupts existing systems a new social contract is needed to smooth the transition and guard against rising inequality significant investments in human capital throughout a person's lifecycle are vital to this effort if workers are to stay competitive against machines they need to train or retool existing skills a social protection system that includes a minimum basic level of protection for workers and citizens can complement new forms of employment improved private sector policies to encourage startup activity and competition can help countries compete in the digital age governments also need to ensure that firms pay their fair share of taxes in part to fund this new social contract the 2019 world development report presents an analysis of these issues based upon the available evidence this book presents a collection and analysis of original policy documents newly translated into english from a key period of chinese development providing both a current and a retrospective analysis of china's economic reform efforts topics dealt with include the evolution of chinese economic strategy economic planning and the spread of market mechanisms technology transfer in industry evolution of an agricultural system the development of population policy and foreign economic relations the collection will be of great interest not only to scholars and students of chinese studies but also to professionals and social scientists concerned with china but unable to read source documents in chinese the shortcomings of traditional regional policies led to a major policy thus regions have become more active in the design and implementation of policies following a bottom up approach and involving the participation of the local community in strategic planning as opposed to the traditional top down method this book addresses regional development theories and policies with a special focus on forgotten places and raises emerging questions about recent theoretical advances as well as trends and challenges in the field it examines two main and related issues the crucial role of regional actors for development and the role of forgotten spaces it emphasizes the spatial territorial approaches from different theoretical perspectives underlining place based approaches and compares the experiences of both successful and failed cases attempting to identify lessons and policy recommendations as well as adding empirical evidence to this field the different cases presented which focus on forgotten spaces allow the reader to assess the role of different actors for regional development as well as some sectoral approaches while there is a clear focus on european countries with different geographical institutional and sociocultural characteristics the book also examines good and bad examples of regional development and policies related to forgotten places from different regions worldwide including developed and developing countries the book benefits from contributions from over 20 authors from different nationalities and a rich diversity of case studies approaches and methods of discussion the authors discuss practical examples and more complex theoretical approaches involving techniques of spatial analysis spatial econometrics social networks content analysis as well as regional planning techniques the book will appeal to an interdisciplinary audience and will provide academicians politicians and policy designers with original and detailed analyses this book covers a range of important topics on environmental remediation biofuels and value added microbial products for environmental clean up water and wastewater recycling and sustainable wastewater treatment using microalgae designed to document advances in biotechnology this book highlights bio resource utilization in fostering low carbon renewable energy based economies and provides new insights into chlorine disinfectant usage in water treatment wastewater treatment using microalgae etc the book will be useful reference material for scientists and researchers in the fields of microbial biotechnology and bioremediation environmental biotechnology and sustainable development climate change mitigation provision of safe water and sustainable wastewater recycling emphasizes recent advances in bioremediation techniques towards environmental sustainability provides detailed information on how to harness indigenous bio resources including microorganisms as bioenhancement agents for environmental remediation introduces new frontiers in the area of wastewater treatment using microalgae important for sustainability and water safety reviews biotechniques that could enhance higher levels of sustainability in heavily polluted environments and also provides an intelligent monitoring system for waste recycling and environmental remediation and fostering a low carbon renewable energy based bioeconomy discusses the need for review of existing guidelines on chlorine disinfectant usage for enhanced water quality
