Official Gazette of the United States Patent Office 2015-05-31 the world at the turn of the twentieth century was in the throes of marconi mania brought on by an incredible invention that no one could quite explain and by a dapper and eccentric figure who would one day win the newly minted nobel prize at the center of it all at a time when the telephone telegraph and electricity made the whole world wonder just what science would think of next the startling answer had come in 1896 in the form of two mysterious wooden boxes containing a device one guglielmo marconi had rigged up to transmit messages through the ether it was the birth of the radio and no scientist in europe or america not even marconi himself could at first explain how it worked it just did and no one knew how far these radio waves could travel until 1903 when a message from president theodore roosevelt to the king of england flashed from cape cod to cornwall clear across the atlantic here is a rich portrait of the man and his era and a captivating tale of science and scientists business and businessmen there are stories of british blowhards american con artists and marconi himself a character par excellence who eventually winds up a virtual prisoner of his worldwide fame and fortune

Charting an American Republic 1950-07 art and politics are related through repetition both realms are structured by practices of repetition and share a common room of sense uality aesthetics in the emphatic sense of the word it is the aesthetics and practices of repetition that reveal the relation between both realms this volume proposes to explore aesthetic and cultural phenomena that effect change in the non aesthetical realm not so much in spite but precisely because of their being mere repetitions repetition shapes art works through procedures and processes of reproduction copying depiction or reenactment as representation of the world mimetic art s relationship to the political and social world can be conceived as repetition when can mimetic works of art nonetheless become a trigger participant in or vehicle for political and social transformation how do mimetic practices as diverse as those of the research institute forensic architecture the theater of milo rau video installations with found footage from social media and the fictional nsk state address and change regimes of visibility how can practices such as performative gender constitution and propaganda which ostensibly affirm regimes of visibility be understood as processes of change through repetition how do commemorative cultures and practices of documentation interrelate how is historical reality produced through mimesis with a view to an imaginary political future by exploring works of art from a wide range of historical periods places media and contexts from the political thought hidden in hegel s aesthetics through hélène cixous s practice of writing difference s from contemporary applied theater through the gezi park uprising in 2013 and from installations of fictional national museums through to the artistic commemoration of assassinated political activists in iran all contributions in this volume attempt to show how a concept of change through repetition can help redefine the relationship between art and politics and to enlighten us on the transformative potential of repetition in political art

2003 originally published in 1984 this volume falls in to three parts the verbal index the word frequency table and the field reference the user can look to the alphabetical listing in the word frequency table to see how many times a word occurs in the text of an outcast of the islands then turning to the verbal index they can see the page number and line at which each occurrence falls then turning to the field of reference they can look at the actual context of each word in the text
