james s brown timeless wisdom on death and dying from the celebrated stoic philosopher seneca it takes an entire lifetime to learn how to die wrote the roman stoic philosopher seneca c 4 bc 65 ad he counseled readers to study death always and took his own advice returning to the subject again and again in all his writings yet he never treated it in a complete work how to die gathers in one volume for the first time seneca s remarkable meditations on death and dying edited and translated by james s romm how to die reveals a provocative thinker and dazzling writer who speaks with a startling frankness about the need to accept death or even under certain conditions to seek it out seneca believed that life is only a journey toward death and that one must rehearse for death throughout life here he tells us how to practice for death how to die well and how to understand the role of a good death in a good life he stresses the universality of death its importance as life s final rite of passage and its ability to liberate us from pain slavery or political oppression featuring beautifully rendered new translations how to die also includes an enlightening introduction notes the wickedly fun supernatural novel in the vein of the strain in which a beautiful new subway line in new york city unearths an ancient dark horror that threatens the city s utter destruction and the balance of civilization itself after years of waiting new york s newest subway line is finally ready an express train that connects the city with the burgeoning communities across the hudson river the shining jewel of this state of the art line is a breathtaking visitors pavilion beneath the river major dignitaries including new york city s mayor and the president of the united states are in attendance for the inaugural run as the first train slowly pulls in under the station s bright ceiling lights the shiny silver cars gleam but as the train comes closer into view a far different scene becomes visible all the train s cars are empty all the cars interiors are drenched in blood as chaos descends all those in the pavilion scramble to get out but the horror is only beginning high levels of deadly methane fill the tunnels the structure begins to flood for those who don t drown choke or spark an explosion another terrifying danger awaits the thing that killed all those people on the train it s out there and it s coming there s something living beneath new york city and it s not happy we ve woken it up for more than 30 years yoga journal has been helping readers achieve the
