pandemic temples are the most prestigious buildings in the urban landscape of ancient italy emerging within a network of centres of the then known mediterranean world notwithstanding the fragmentary condition of the buildings remains these monuments and especially their richly decorated roofs are crucial sources of information on the constitution of political social and craft identities acting as agents in displaying the meaning of images the subject of this volume is thematic and includes material from the eastern mediterranean including greece and turkey contributors discuss the network between patron elites and specialized craft communities that were responsible for the sophisticated terracotta decoration of temples in italy between 600 and 100 bc focusing on the mobility of craft people and craft traditions and techniques asking how images iconographies practices and materials can be used to explain the organization of ancient production distribution and consumption special attention has been given to relations with the eastern mediterranean greece and anatolia investigating craft communities workshop organizations and networks has never been thoroughly undertaken for this period and region nor for this exceptionally rich category of materials or for the craftspeople producing the architectural terracottas papers in this volume aim to improve our understanding of roof production and construction in this period to reveal relationships between main production centres and to study the possible influences of immigrant craftspeople a collection of forty six papers papers in honour of professor jacek lech compiled in recognition of his research and academic career as well as his inquiry into the study of prehistoric flint mining neolithic flint tools and beyond and the history of archaeology landscape design the magazine provides timely information on built landscapes and new techniques for ecologically sensitive planning and design with photographs and refers to physical spaces in which information and communication technologies are interwoven with sensing technologies innovative user interfaces robotics and artificial intelligence to create interactive spaces which increase the awareness and enhance the experience of those occupying them the growing ie community is rooted in academia but increasingly involves practitioners it explores the core ideas of ies as well as the factors necessary to make them a reality such as energy efficiency the computational constraints of edge devices and privacy issues this book presents papers from workshops held during the 18th international conference on intelligent environments ie2022 held as a hybrid conference in biarritz france from 20 to 23 june 2022 the conference is now recognized as a major annual venue in the field of ie it offers a truly international forum for the exchange of information and ideas and welcomes contributions from all technically active regions of the planet
