The British Country House Revival

fifty years ago the future for country houses in britain looked bleak the victoria albert museum s exhibition the destruction of the country house which opened in october 1974 charted the loss of over a thousand country houses in the preceding century the makers of the exhibition warned that history could be about to repeat itself because of the threats besetting mansion properties principally from higher taxation houses faced the prospect of having to be stripped of their collections and sold for use as offices hotels or hospitals with their parks and gardens turned into golf clubs government might afford to save just a handful of the most significant of these places working in tandem with charities such as the national trust the rest would be consigned to history this book traces the history of country houses in britain from the destruction exhibition to the present day the wave of country house losses anticipated in 1974 never actually happened instead over the next five decades britain s country houses experienced a renaissance fiscal rules changed in the mid 1970s to make it easier for owners to hold on to their assets economic improvements in the 1980s and 1990s allowed many houses and estates to develop profitable commercial businesses all of this was achieved only after dedicated campaigning from heritage organisations in support of the country house cause the book argues that a new accord is needed today to recognise and value the ongoing if increasingly contested contribution of country houses to british life and culture in the twenty first century please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 the media regularly promotes the idea that animal agriculture is the biggest contributor to climate change however this is completely false 2 in 2020 many people around the world heard the call to reduce or eliminate meat consumption the proportion of uk meat eaters who reported having reduced or limited the amount of meat they consume rose from 28 percent in 2017 to 39 percent in 2019 3 there is no shortage of people arguing for a more balanced and fact based debate however the media continues to focus on the emissions from livestock instead of the main culprit fossil fuels 4 one fact is that 85 percent of global emissions are generated by sources other than animal agriculture so why are we vilifying farmers and the meat and dairy products they produce because it s easy to target and because people feel guilty about the damage they are doing to the planet they want to seem like they re doing something positive
