The Discoverie of the Large, Rich, and Bewtiful Empyre of Guiana 1937 the third volume of north american exploration covering 1784 to 1914 charts a dramatic shift in the purpose priorities and results of the exploration of north america as the nineteenth century opened exploration was still fostered by the growth of empire but by the 1830s commercial interests came to drive most exploratory ventures particularly through the fur trade by midcentury however as imperial rivalries lessened and the fur trade declined exploration was driven by the growing scientific spirit of the age although the science was often conducted in the service of a search for railroad routes or natural resources linked to military concerns a clear transition took place as the spirit of the enlightenment gave way to economic imperatives and to the science of the post darwinian age and exploration passed beyond discovery and geographical definition this volume explores the resultant beginnings of an understanding of the continent and its native peoples confronts humanity with intriguing challenges and opportunities with the inception of the human exploration and development of space. HEDS Enterprise in 1995 NASA has acknowledged the opportunities and has accepted the very significant challenges. Microgravity research in support of technologies for the human exploration and development of space and planetary bodies was commissioned by NASA to assist it in coordinating the scientific information relevant to anticipating identifying and solving the technical problems that must be addressed throughout the HEDS program over the coming decades. This report assesses scientific and related technological issues facing NASA's human exploration and development of space endeavor looking specifically at mission enabling and enhancing technologies which for development require an improved understanding of fluid and material behavior in a reduced gravity environment.

The Language of Discovery, Exploration and Settlement 2019-10-31 After the Mexican Congress ratified the 1848 Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo the Rio Grande/Rio Bravo was the legal boundary between Texas and Mexico. Under the treaty the United States was obligated to prevent raids by hostile tribes in Mexico whose northern frontier had been ravaged by the raids. This obligation was accepted despite the absence of a wagon road between San Antonio and El Paso or any U.S. Army forts with soldiers stationed along the border. In fact no Americans including Texans who claimed the lands knew where the border or tribal crossings were located. This is the story of the 1848 Hays Expedition the first U.S. effort to search for a wagon road route along the new border to Chihuahua and El Paso. The original intent was to establish a trade route to Chihuahua but the expedition's efforts to explore the new lands proved to be far more difficult besides crossing the most rugged terrain in Texas with almost no water sources and starving from lack of food the expedition survived the first American exploration of the Texas-Mexico border and provided critical information that led to the settlement of far west Texas and a new route from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific Ocean.

North American Exploration 1997 Today the doors of China are opening to foreign investment and trade as never before but the history of contact between China and the West goes back many centuries. Goods from China were being traded in Rome long before the birth of Christ transported over the famous Silk Road that crossed Mongolia and Russia but not until the mid-fifteenth century when Marco Polo published his account of his travels did China really capture the European imagination. Subsequent centuries saw missionary trips to China by Franciscans and Jesuits a European craze for Chinese silk and porcelain European visits to Tibet the infamous Opium War between Britain and China and further instances of contact commerce and conflict. China has shown amazing economic growth since 1949 and today it has set ambitious goals for growth in trade and technology. This book traces the history of Western exploration in and trade with China. It follows the events outlined above and touches on many other highlights including exploration by the Russian Nikolay Przhevalsky who traveled deep into China and today is largely remembered for the horse he discovered and identified there the travels of nineteenth century women explorers in China American Roy Chapman's discovery of the first fossilized dinosaur eggs in the Gobi Desert and the competition between two American explorers to be the first to capture a live panda. Also included are a chronology of Chinese history and a pronunciation guide.
