vocational skill development vsd has the capacity to contribute to poverty reduction because it serves as the key to job creation and inclusive growth as developed nations have been faced with high youth and graduate unemployment rates basic education and vocational skill development have become a priority of development cooperation activities however there is a realization that measures to improve skill training can only be successful if they are in harmony with employment and economic policies socio economic perspectives on vocational skill development emerging research and opportunities is a collection of innovative research on the methods and applications of equipping individuals with relevant work skills and implementing effective skills systems that can lead to economic growth and high levels of productivity while highlighting topics including human capital professional development and skill gaps this book is ideally designed for managers business professionals policymakers academicians researchers and management students seeking the current understanding of the strategic role of skill development at different levels of the socio economic system

Grid-locked African Economic Sovereignty

the emergent so called fourth industrial revolution is regarded by some as a panacea for bringing about development to africans this book dismisses this flawed reasoning surfacing how investors are actually looting and plundering africa how the industrial internet of things the gig economies digital economies and cryptocurrencies breach african political and economic sovereignty the book pioneers what can be called anticipatory economics which anticipate the future of economies it is argued that the future of africans does not necessarily require degrowth postgrowth postdevelopment postcapitalism or sharing solidarity economies it requires attention to age old questions about african ownership and control of their resources investors have to invest in ensuring that africans own and control their resources further it is pointed out that the historical imperial structural creation of forced labour is increasingly morphing into what we call the structural creation of forced leisure which is no less lethal for africans because both the structural creation of forced labour and the structural creation of forced leisure are undergirded by transnational neo imperial plunder theft robbery looting and dispossession of africans this book goes beyond the simplistic arguments that euro america developed due to the industrial revolutions this book analyses how informal economy traders and the marketplace institution dominate the local economy in african cities according to the world bank being an african reduces the probability that an individual is an entrepreneur in the manufacturing sector by more than 95 percent exporting unprocessed strategic raw materials and importing large volumes of finished goods stagnate africa s informal sector while creating formal jobs overseas this suggests employment increases in distributive trade and persistence of the marketplace institution in reducing urban unemployment and income inequality however there is limited knowledge of the men and women with permanent stalls in large urban marketplaces that function daily as a temporary city within a city even though they are the major actors in distribute trade more important their daily out of stall contacts resulting from maintaining complex social and economic relationships that determine the financial health of family business and the economy are generally unexplored and largely unknown but have significant unintended consequences on the urban mobility system researchers planners development practitioners and policymakers have therefore not focused their attention and considered the impacts of the powerful economic institution marketplaces and traders in framing transport planning processes and urban development policies and that is the paradox surrounding marketplace trade and urban development in west africa
