Manual lymph drainage (MLD) is a technique developed by the Vodders Dr. Emil Vodder and his wife Estrid in 1936 in Paris for treatment of swollen lymph nodes. MLD is a gentle form of massage used to relieve painful swelling in your arms and legs caused by lymphedema. Lymphedema often affects people recovering from breast cancer surgery. MLD is a type of manual manipulation of the skin, not to be confused with massage based on the hypothesis that it will encourage the natural drainage of the lymph, which carries waste products away.

MLD has many potential benefits, including reducing swelling, pain, and inflammation, boosting the immune system, and improving circulation. MLD is a specialized type of medical massage that can help treat lymphedema, in which lymphatic fluid collects in the tissues. MLD was developed in France in 1932 by Emil and Estrid Vodder. MLD has grown to be the most well-known manual technique to assist lymph flow and aid in drainage of tissues. The skin is stretched and torqued in a specific manner based on scientific physiological principles that have proven to encourage lymph flow.
