according to the 1860 census nearly 350 000 native northerners resided in a southern state by the time of the civil war although northern in birth and upbringing many of these men and women identified with their adopted section once they moved south in this innovative study david ross zimring examines what motivated these americans to change sections support or not the confederate cause and in many cases rise to considerable influence in their new homeland by analyzing the lives of northern emigrants in the south zimring deepens our understanding of the nature of sectional identity as well as the strength of confederate nationalism focusing on a representative sample of emigrants zimring identifies two subgroups adoptive southerners individuals born and raised in a state above the mason dixon line but who but did not necessarily join the confederacy after they moved south and northern confederates emigrants who sided with the confederacy during the civil war after analyzing statistical data on states of origin age education decade of migration and most importantly the reasons why these individuals embarked for the south in the first place zimring goes on to explore the prewar lives of adoptive southerners the adaptations they made with regard to slavery and the factors that influenced their allegiances during the secession crisis he also analyzes their contributions to the confederate military and home front the emergence of their confederate identities and nationalism their experiences as prisoners of war in the north and the reactions they elicited from native southerners in tracing these journeys from native northerner to confederate veteran this book reveals not only the complex transformations of adoptive southerners but also the flexibility of sectional and national identity before the war and the loss of that flexibility in its aftermath to live and die in dixie is a thought provoking work that provides a novel perspective on the revolutionary changes the civil war unleashed on american society david ross zimring is an adjunct professor of history at the university of maryland baltimore county and montgomery college he has published in west virginia history and the journal of southern history what happens to us when we die it s a question that has sought answers from religion philosophy the supernatural and more recently to evidence from near death experience but never it seems from science yet that s where the answer appears to lie specifically in cosmology the study of the history and future of the universe taking his inspiration from stephen hawking s groundbreaking a brief history of time author andrew mclauchlin brings his background in physics to bear on this fascinating subject he examines developments in cosmology and shows how they point to a conclusion about the dimension of time that has very real implications not only for the universe but also for us what really happens when we die is a journey of discovery into a realm that offers an astonishing explanation for one of life s imponderables few are aware that the actual identity of william shakespeare a pen name represents our greatest cultural mystery even fewer realize that will shakspere of stratford on avon was an uneducated businessman who never owned a book knew no foreign languages never traveled and never wrote a word of poetry or prose shakspere was a front for a complete fraud perpetrated by england s leading politician robert cecil for reasons of power and greed the astonishing strength of conventional wisdom has kept the ruse going for 400 years perpetrated by professors of english who blinded by traditional dogma refuse to accept the remarkable and growing body of evidence in favor of edward de vere volume 8 of the anthology series building the case for edward de vere as shakespeare documents the quickening pace of oxfordian discoveries in the late 1990s and early 2000s these present massive problems for professors of english to combat in a convincing manner supreme court justice john paul stevens 1991 for present purposes i shall confine my analysis to the sherlock holmes principle that sometimes the fact that a watchdog did not bark may provide a significant clue about the identity of a murderous intruder this concern directs our attention to three items of the shakespeare authorship controversy first it is of interest that there is no mention of any library or of any books at all in his will and no evidence that his house in stratford ever contained a library second his son in law s detailed medical journals contain no mention of the doctor s illustrious father in law finally is the fact that is most puzzling to me the seven year period of silence that followed shakespeare s shakspere s death in 1616 until the first folio was published in 1623 there seems to have been no public comment in any part of england on the passing of the greatest literary genius in the country s history it does seem odd that not even a cocker spaniel or a dachshund made any noise at all when he passed from the scene
