to work through the natural soulful life which has not been brought under control of the spirit what would the church look like if Christians saw their lives as constituted by the Spirit's presence to live like Jesus lived in a time when being led by the Spirit is defined more by achieving the American dream than by Jesus' life. Answering this question rightly seems all the more critical for the church to survive in a culture increasingly hostile to Christianity. Building upon the work of post-Constantinians John Howard Yoder and Stanley Hauerwas and upon the Trinitarian Spirit Christology of Leopoldo Sanchez, this account of the Christian life provides a framework for seeing one's Christian life as one transformed by the Spirit to live in the resurrection reality of Jesus' sonship with the Father in the Spirit. In the process, one will discover that for Jesus, being led by the Spirit meant trusting His Father to the point of death on a cross, trusting God to resurrect Him even if He did not save Him. Should it mean the same for Christians today? If so, this would require the church to reimagine its ministries for the Spirit to work: repentance and faith rather than simple agreement. For Christians living in the Spirit, their lives might look very different. Not every Spirit explores the notion of Christian faith as disbelief, and how the task of testing the Spirit develops and comes to be understood within Christianity as a theological discipline called dogmatics. It also focuses on uncovering disbeliefs of the Christian faith concerning the Word of God, the Being of God, Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, creation, salvation, humanity, the church, and the life to come. This book is a fresh and timely dogmatic text that will take its place as a standard work on Christian teachings. I wish to urge all Christians, especially ministers of the Gospel, to give the Spirit-filled life a prayerful reading. I feel confident it will bring them help and blessing; it will deepen the conviction of the great need and absolute duty of being filled with the Spirit; it will point out the hindrances and open up the way; it will stir up faith and hope, and I trust it will bring many people to feel that it is at the footstool of the throne in the absolute surrender of a new consecration that the blessing is to be received from God Himself. May this book stir up all its readers not only to seek this blessing for themselves but also to pray earnestly that God may give the Holy Spirit in power throughout His whole church. It is when the tide comes in that every pool is filled and all the separate little pools are lost in the great ocean as all believers who know or seek this blessing begin to pray as intensely for each other and all their brethren as for themselves. This is when the power of the Spirit will be fully known with the prayer that this Spirit-filled book may be greatly blessed of God. I commend it to the study of His children. Andrew Murray, the traditional venues for making sense of the complicated Apostle Paul are history and theology; indeed, one cannot understand him apart from either. However, something is still missing from our portrait of Paul rather than thinking of Paul as a theologian and an apostle. Leslie Hardin argues there is great benefit in approaching him as a disciple, a Spirit-filled man who wanted to pass vibrant spirituality on to those he encountered in the spirituality of Paul. Hardin uncovers the things Paul practiced in his own life and those he taught his followers in order to attempt to live an authentic Spirit-filled Christian life. Hardin points out that in order to foster the power of the Spirit, Paul, like each of us, had to dedicate himself to everyday routines and practices. What were those spiritual disciplines? How did they help him, and how might they be applied in our modern lives to bring us closer to Christ? Whether a general reader or mature believer, the reader of this book will find Paul to be a true brother, a fellow sinner receiving grace in his book, overcoming through the Spirit. The author shows the world of today to be no different than the world in the time of the apostles. The apostle John wrote, "The whole world lieth in wickedness" (1 John 5:19). Today, there are also false doctrines, false prophets, and teachers, and people in all nations proclaiming themselves to be something they are not. The foremost reason I have written this book is that I was deeply impressed by God to write this book and entitle it "Overcoming through the Spirit." I began a writing ministry in September of 1994 that is continuing at present, writing articles for the church bulletin based on the messages preached by the ministry. These articles comprise most of the essential doctrines on a Christian's overcoming faith when adding a comment from a church bulletin article.
