Plunging into Turmoil in the Aftermath of Crisis

2019-01-24

the 2008 economic and financial crisis marked the beginning of a period of social transformation and uncertainty that continues to characterise present and future social development in unplanned and unexpected ways with frequently harmful effects it has highlighted the need for a deeper understanding of crises phenomena and how these affect the overall course of human development on the one hand the social sciences constitute a means for acquiring a better understanding of the character of the rapid and complex social transformations associated with crises on the other hand they can orientate people and social practices on how a greater degree of collective and democratic control can be acquired over the manner and direction of social processes in crises contexts this book brings together a team of international scholars to address the notion of crises two main strains of inquiry orientate this study first it questions how different sociological and theoretical approaches might contribute to explain crises phenomena analyse their effects and identify their potential future paths of development secondly it considers how crises processes and their effects on human social existence demand a re thinking of the role of the social sciences in society and what such a role might be this volume not only opens up future lines of research by providing a comprehensive approach to crises phenomena but also fills an important gap in the literature about crises which is frequently focused on only one of these dimensions and on particular historical contexts rather than producing more comprehensive frameworks regarding the study of crises processes as a whole understanding the magnitude and source of measurement biases in self reported data is critical to effective economic policy research this paper examines the role of anchoring bias in self reports of objective and subjective outcomes under recall the research exploits a unique panel survey data set collected over a three year period from four countries in central america it assesses whether respondents use their reported value of specific measures from the most recent survey period as a cognitive heuristic when recalling the value from a previous period while controlling for the value they reported earlier we find strong evidence of sizable anchoring bias in self reported retrospective indicators for both objective measures household and per capita income wages and hours spent on the household s main activity and subjective measures reports of happiness health stress and well being in general we also observe a larger bias in response to negative changes for objective indicators and a larger bias in response to positive changes for subjective indicators support for security and justice institutions has become a crucial instrument of international engagement in fragile and conflict affected states in attempts to shore up security as a precondition for sustainable peace international actors have become deeply engaged in reforming the security agencies and security governance institutions of states emerging from conflict but despite their increasing importance in the field of international peace and state building security sector reform ssr interventions remain both highly political and deeply contentious processes expanding on this theme this edited volume identifies new directions in research on the domestic consequences of external support to security sector reform both empirically and theoretically the focus lies on the so far neglected role of domestic actors interests and political power constellations in recipient states based on a wide range of empirical cases the volume discusses how the often conflictual and asymmetric encounters between external and domestic actors with divergent interests and perceptions affect the consequences of international interventions by taking into account the plurality of state and non state security actors and institutions beyond classical models of weberian statehood the contributions make the case for engaging more closely with the complexity of the domestic security governance configurations that can result from external engagement in the field of security sector reform this book was published as a special issue of international peacekeeping the ideal of an inclusive and participatory internet has been undermined by the rise of misogynistic abuse on social media platforms however limited progress has been made at national and to an extent european levels in addressing this issue in england and wales the tackling of underlying causes of online abuse has been overlooked because the law focuses on punishment rather than measures to prevent such abuses furthermore online abuse has a significant impact on its victims that is underestimated by policymakers this volume critically analyses the legal provisions that are currently deployed to tackle forms of online misogyny and focuses on three aspects firstly the phenomenon of social media abuse secondly the poor and disparate legal responses to social media abuses and thirdly the similar failings of hate crime to tackle problems of online gender based abuses this book advances a compelling argument for legal changes to the existing hate crime and communications legislation first of all other i find no grammar tears very informative what amazes me is the kind of dedication and patience marthus adden spent in writing this book this is because this kind of genre actually needs full attention truly whatever he has written is precise and correct i really admire his generosity of sharing his knowledge about english owing to the fact that english is his second language what is good about the book is that the writer wrote it in a manner that readers can easily understand it in other words what makes this book different from the other english grammar books in the market is that it is more user friendly which means he wrote it in a manner that can easily be understood especially by those who just learned english and want to learn more correctly put this book is a guide to those who wants to learn english on their own as a matter of fact he has a knowledge check in every subject he has discussed in this book he catered everything especially in the part on how to construct sentences which are very precise and which make it very easy to learn the book he did not change anything at all in terms of the right way to speak and learn english but instead he made it easier and more convenient for those people whose english is not their first language in point of fact he wrote this book not because he wants to show off to the world that he is a good grammarian but because he wants to help those struggling to learn english the book therefore deserves recognition because he is actually giving a favour to those who can t afford to have a private tutor to teach them how to speak english correctly i must in conclusion admit that this book will really help those people who want to learn english language those people who are striving to speak perfect english and those people that english is their second language i will therefore commend the author for this book challenges and prospects in african education system the general idea this book is trying to disseminate is to inform readers about the compelling challenges and prospects in african system of education as we all know when issues of africa educational system is raised the first set of thoughts that come to mind is decline in standard deterioration of facilities examination malpractices cult crises or school based violence shortage of teachers underqualified teachers and poor teachers performance which results in poor learning standards lack of classroom discipline that is exacerbated by insufficient resources and inadequate infrastructure failure of appropriate inspection and monitoring and confusion caused by changing curricula without proper communication and training all these have led to massive demoralization and disillusionment among teachers and a negative and worsening perception of african system of education this therefore calls for in depth analysis aimed at tutoring every stakeholder in education on how their action and inactions have individually and collectively contributed to the collapsing state of education in africa however the prospect is that africa's recovery and sustainable development can only be guaranteed through expansion and sustenance of both quantitative and qualitative of the continent's stock of human capital through education in order for education to realize its key role in development it must be provided to the younger segments of african society as quickly as human and financial resources permit with the ultimate goal of developing a comprehensive meaningful and sustainable system of education at all levels and for all age groups this is the message that this book puts across in the six knitted sections this book written by one of the foremost researchers in this field represents one of the intellectual efforts on the explanation of the inter ethnic phenomenon the author went into the critique of the whole phenomenon and approached his frame of meaning from the actor s side that is why the book is subtitled the peoples non formal mechanisms the author is phenomenological in his approach and believes that the real meaning of any event should be based on the experience of the actors he combined the pessimism of the ethnomethodologists with the realism of the phenomenologist the result of this is an essay which is considered as being nearest to the true situation of inter ethnic relations in nigeria more than that of its predecessors the book therefore reports the behaviors of nigerians in actual situations how different ethnicities pass and behave as if they are one the book heavily relied on the w i thomas dictum which says that if man defines a situation as real they are real in their consequences the consequences of mutual deception and strategic interactions mentioned in the book become real as they produce the real tools and mechanisms for tension management in a multi ethnic society the author dwells a lot on economic spheres where he identified for the first time in inter ethnic relations literature a phenomenon he refers to as market groups this group unlike its counterpart the economic associations is informal enduring and based on proper inter ethnic understanding the market group members declare their allegiance to the sarki of their commodity who may not necessarily be a member of their ethnic group different ethnic group members were united by the commodity they sold in the market the commodity to dictate their interaction style rather than ethnic or primordial emotional attachments one cannot do but remember marx s idea on fetishism of commodities in the section commodities assume and dominate the social psychology of the individuals and place ethnicity in the secondary position the role of modern formal education in forging inter ethnic unity in nigeria as reported in the book is also very illuminating the unity of curricula and subjecting the students to take the same west african senior school certificate examination all over nigeria regardless of the students state of origin or ethnic orientation contributes to the nipping of the inter ethnic distrust in the bud another important thing one may think of is the problem of unity schools to make this more effective more student exchanges should take place and the numbers of the unity schools should increase to give the young population an opportunity to practice the non formal management mechanisms in their formative years
