Perspectives on Translation Quality 2011-11-30 the volume is a collection of papers that deal with the issue of translation quality from a number of perspectives it addresses the quality of human translation and machine translation of pragmatic and literary translation of translations done by students and by professional translators quality is not merely looked at from a linguistic point of view but the wider context of qa in the translation workflow also gets ample attention the authors take an inductive approach the papers are based on the analysis of translation data and or on hands on experience the book provides a bird s eye view of the crucial quality issues the close collaboration between academics and industry professionals safeguarding attention for quality in the real world for this reason the methodological stance is likely to inspire the applied researcher the analyses and descriptions also include best practices for translation trainers professional translators and project managers

The Interaction of Food Industry and Environment 2020-01-22 the interaction of food industry and environment addresses all levels of interaction paying particular attention to avenues for responsible operational excellence in food production and processing written at a scientific level this book explores many topics relating to the food industry and environment including environmental management systems environmental performance evaluation the correlation between food industry sustainable diets and environment environmental regulation on the profitability of sustainable water use in the food industry lifecycle assessment green supply chain network design and sustainability the valorization of food processing waste via biorefineries food energy environment trilemma wastewater treatment and much more readers will also find valuable information on energy production from food processing waste packaging and food sustainability the concept of virtual water in the food industry water reconditioning and reuse in the food industry and control of odors in the food industry this book is a welcomed resource for food scientists and technologists environmentalists food and environmental engineers and academics addresses the interaction between the food industry and environment at all levels focuses on the past decade s advances in the field provides a guide to optimize the current food industry s performance serves as a resource for anyone dealing with food and environmental science and technology includes coverage of a variety of topics including performance indicators the correlation between the food industry sustainable diets and the environment environmental regulations lifecycle assessments green supply chain networks and more

Information Retrieval Evaluation in a Changing World 2019-08-13

this volume celebrates the twentieth anniversary of clef the cross language evaluation forum for the first ten years and the conference and labs of the evaluation forum since and traces its evolution over these first two decades clef s main mission is to promote research innovation and development of information retrieval ir systems by anticipating trends in information management in order to stimulate advances in the field of ir system experimentation and evaluation the book is divided into six parts parts i and ii provide background and context with the first part explaining what is meant by experimental evaluation and the underlying theory and describing how this has been interpreted in clef and in other internationally recognized evaluation initiatives part ii presents research architectures and infrastructures that have been developed to manage experimental data and to provide evaluation services in clef and elsewhere parts iii iv and v represent the core of the book presenting some of the most significant evaluation activities in clef ranging from the early multilingual text processing exercises to the later more sophisticated experiments on multimodal collections in diverse genres and media in all cases the focus is not only on describing what has been achieved but above all on what has been learnt the final part examines the impact clef has had on the research world and discusses current and future challenges both academic and industrial including the relevance of ir benchmarking in industrial settings mainly intended for researchers in academia and industry it also offers useful insights and tips for practitioners in industry working on the evaluation and performance issues of ir tools and graduate students specializing in information retrieval

symbolic data analysis is a relatively new field that provides a range of methods for analyzing complex datasets standard statistical methods do not have the power or flexibility to make sense of very large datasets and symbolic data analysis techniques have been developed in order to extract knowledge from such data symbolic data methods differ from that of data mining for example because rather than identifying points of interest in the data symbolic data methods allow the user to build models of the data and make predictions about future events this book is the result of the work of a pan european project team led by edwin diday following 3 years work sponsored by eurostat it includes a full explanation of the new sodas software developed as a result of this project the software and methods described highlight the crossover between statistics and computer science with a particular emphasis on data mining

the gnorimoschemini gelechiidae gelechiinae of europe are reviewed in this volume a total of 211 species is recognized including two species not yet found in europe and two others recently introduced descriptions and diagnoses are accompanied by colour figures of the adults 532 specimens are illustrated on 21 colour plates usually depicting variation and black and white photographs of male and female genitalia characters notes on distribution and bionomics are added for every species

Information Access Evaluation -- Multilinguality, Multimodality, and Interaction 2014-08-19

this book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 5th international conference of the clef initiative clef 2014 held in sheffield uk in september 2014 the 11 full papers and 5 short papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 30 submissions they cover a broad range of issues in the fields of multilingual and multimodal information access evaluation also included are a set of labs and workshops designed to test different aspects of mono and cross language information retrieval systems

Digital Atlas of Economic Plants in Archaeology 2012-06-15

the third part of the digital plant atlas presents illustrations of subfossil remains of plants with economic value these plant remains mainly derive from excavations in the old world europe western asia and north africa that the deutsches archäologisches institut dai berlin and the groningen institute of archaeology gia have conducted or participated in plant material is usually very perishable but can nevertheless be preserved in archaeological sites if the biological decay of the material is blocked many plant remains are discovered during excavations in carbonized form where despite having been in contact with fire they have not been completely reduced to ash extremely dry climatic conditions like those in egypt can also preserve plant material in a completely dessicated condition most of the economically valuable plants illustrated here have been carbonized or desiccated so this atlas links up very well with the digital atlas of economic plants like the other atlases this atlas is a combination of a book and a website the book just as in part two of the series this part will not only include illustrations of seeds and fruits but also of other plant parts the resulting variety in seed and fruit forms will be illustrated by examples from different excavations to support their identification and determination also pictures of recent plants and relevant plant parts have been included the website to supplement the photographs the website will also include morphometric measurements of the subfossil seeds and fruits these measurements can be compared with own measurements of the plant taxa in question summary plant families 56 plant species taxa 191 photographs 773 photographs of subfossil plant parts 1137 photographs of recent plants and plant parts languages english and 15 indices scientific plant name pharmaceutical plant name english german french dutch spanish arab arab in transliteration turkish chinese pinyin chinese in transliteration hindi sanskrit and malayalam purchase of the book grants access to the protected parts of the websites of the project

Be(com)ing a Conference Interpreter 2016-09-07

this study offers a novel view of conference interpreting by looking at eu interpreters as a professional community of practice in particular duflou s work focuses on the nature of the competence conference interpreters working for the european parliament and the european commission need to acquire in order to cope with their professional tasks making use of observation as a member of the community in depth interviews and institutional documents she explores the link between the specificity of the eu setting and the knowledge and skills required her analysis of the learning experiences of newcomers in the professional community shows that eu interpreters competence is to a large extent context dependent and acquired through situated learning in addition it highlights the various factors which have an impact on this learning process using the way dutch booth eu interpreters share the workload in the booth as a case duflou demonstrates the importance of mastering collaborative and embodied skills for eu interpreters she thereby challenges the idea of interpreting competence from an individual cognitive accomplishment and redefines it as the ability to apply the practical and setting determined know how required to function as a full member of the professional community

The Acquisition of Japanese Nominal Modifying Constructions 2013-07-26

this books looks into how l2 learners of japanese acquire nominal modifying constructions such as adjectival clauses nominal complements and relative clauses hanako fujino reviews some of the theoretical discussions regarding these constructions and provides new pieces of evidence that shed light on their nature special attention is drawn to a phenomenon by which learners occasionally insert a non target like no between the modifying clause and the head noun this phenomenon is interesting not only because it is observed among the different modifying constructions but also because it is exhibited by learners of different l1s and because japanese children also show a similar phenomenon during l1a by focusing on the diachronic changes that the adnominal form an inflectional form common to nominal modifying clauses has gone through fujino puts forth an account based on phonological grounds family policy variation in europe is still enormous and there is very limited knowledge about the publics attitudes toward family policy measures in a comparative perspective this book addresses this research gap by combing a profound analysis of existing family policy measures with a thorough analysis of public attitudes based on institutional theory which argues that institutions structure the processes of orientation the empirical analyses shed light on the relationship between the current family policy setup the social context and public attitudes toward particular family policy measures in 12 countries of the european union the results demonstrate that the social context needs to be taken into account in order to improve our understanding of attitudinal variation among different countries and family policy contexts moreover this book points out that only few patterns of social polarization are quasi universal whereas many others are specific to individual countries or certain groups of countries
