colonial missionaries both catholic and protestant arrived in india with the grandiose vision of converting the pagans because like st peter acts 4 12 and most of the church fathers they honestly believed that there is no salvation outside the church extra ecclesiam nulla salus at the end of the great protestant century however christians made up less than 3 percent of the population in india and the hope of the missionary was nearly shattered but if one looks at mission in india qualitatively rather than quantitatively one sees a number of positive outcomes missionaries in india particularly protestant missionaries espousing the social gospel in collaboration with a few british evangelical administrators dared to challenge numerous social evils and even began to eradicate them the scientific and liberal english education began to enlighten and transform the indian mindset converts belonging to the upper caste although small in number laid the foundation stone of indian theology and an inculturated church using indian genius the end of colonialism in india coincided with the painful death of colonial mission theology now the power of the word of god extricated from political power is slowly and peacefully gaining ground like the mustard seed of the parable a paradigm shift from the ecclesio centric mission to missio dei offers reason for further optimism in short the future of mission in india is as bright as the kingdom of god in today s new context theologians despite objections from some quarters are struggling to discover the asian face of jesus disfigured by the greco roman church and the missionary is challenged to become a living bible that undoubtedly everyone will read
