Redefining Global Strategy, with a New Preface

2018-04-10

new tools for succeeding globally why do so many global strategies fail despite companies powerful brands and other border crossing advantages because a one size fits all strategy no longer stands a chance when firms believe in the illusions of a flat world and the death of distance they charge across borders as if the globe were one seamless marketplace but cross border differences are larger than we assume most economic activity including trade real and financial investment tourism and communication happens locally not internationally in this semiglobalized approach companies can cross borders more profitably by basing their strategies on the geopolitical differences that matter they must identify the barriers their strategies will have to overcome and they must build bridges to cross those barriers based on rigorous research pankaj ghemawat shows how to create successful strategies and provides practical management tools so you can assess the cultural administrative geographic and economic differences between regions at the industry level and decide which ones require attention track the implications of the specific border crossing actions that will impact your company s ability to create value the most generate superior performance through strategies that are optimized for the three a s adaptation adjusting to differences aggregation overcoming differences and arbitrage exploiting differences using in depth examples ghemawat reveals how companies such as cemex toyota procter gamble tata consultancy services ibm and ge healthcare are adroitly managing cross border differences he also shares examples of other well known companies that have failed at this challenge crucial for any business competing across borders redefining global strategy will help you make the most of our semiglobalized world

The Global Competitiveness of Regions

the aim of this book is to consider theoretically the notion of the global competitiveness of regions as well as giving attention as to how such competitiveness may be empirically measured with this in mind the book has three specific objectives first to place the concept of regional competitiveness within the context of regional economic development theory second to present a rationale and method for quantifying the global competitiveness of regions and third to undertake the most geographically widespread analysis of regional competitiveness differences across the globe with regard to the third goal the analysis incorporates more than 500 regions across europe north and south america asia pacific the middle east and the so called bric economies of brazil russia india and china the importance of the concept of competitiveness has increased rapidly in recent years with the issues surrounding it becoming at the same time more empirically refined and theoretically complex the focus on regions reflects the growing consensus that they are the primary spatial units that compete to attract investment and it is at the regional level that knowledge is circulated and transferred resulting in agglomerations or clusters of industrial and service sector enterprises this growing acknowledgement of the region s role as a key spatial unit of organisation has led to attention turning to competitiveness at a more regional level the book explores the results of the world competitiveness index of regions wcir covering the rankings and results of the 2014 edition the wcir provides a tool for analysing the development of a range of regional economies across the globe it enables an illustration of the changing patterns of regional competitiveness on the international stage to be generated in fundamental terms the wcir aims to produce an integrated and overall benchmark of the knowledge capacity capability and sustainability of each region and the extent to which this knowledge is translated into economic value and transferred into the wealth of the citizens of each region given the central role that agriculture plays in the rural economy of africa several countries have implemented supply and demand driven policies and programs to promote sustainable fertilizer use with mixed results however not much has been said about the market structure or competitive behavior along the supply chain in the highly concentrated fertilizer industry nor about how this affects fertilizer uptake in the region globally the industry has only a few producers and african countries are highly and increasingly dependent on imported fertilizer locally fertilizer distribution channels are also characterized by a limited number of market actors often with a poor dealer network
