an historical overview of ethiopia's transformation from a multicultural empire into a modern nation state provides the gist of one scholar's knowledge of this country acquired over several decades the author of numerous works on ethiopia markakis presents here an overarching concise historical profile of a momentous effort to integrate a multicultural empire into a modern nation state the concept of nation state formation provides the analytical framework within which this process unfolds and the changes of direction it takes under different regimes as well as a standard for assessing its progress and shortcomings at each stage over a century old the process is still far from completion and its ultimate success is far from certain in the author's view there are two major obstacles that need to be overcome two frontiers that need to be crossed to reach the desired goal the first is the monopoly of power inherited from the empire builders and zealously guarded ever since by a ruling class of abyssinian origin the descendants of the people subjugated by the empire builders remain excluded from power a handicap that breeds political instability and violent conflict the second frontier is the arid lowlands on the margins of the state where the process of integration has not yet reached and where resistance to it is greatest until this frontier is crossed the ethiopian state will not have the secure borders that a mature nation state requires john markakis is a political historian who has devoted a professional lifetime to the study of ethiopia and its neighbours in the horn of africa he has published several books and many articles on this area this book takes stock of political reform in ethiopia and the transformation of ethiopian society since the adoption of multi party politics and ethnic federalism in 1991 decentralization attempted democratization via ethno national representation and partial economic liberalization have reconfigured ethiopian society and state in the past two decades yet as the contributors to this volume demonstrate democracy in ethiopia has not changed the authority structures and the culture of centralist decision making of the past the political system is tightly engineered and controlled from top to bottom by the ruling ethiopian peoples revolutionary democratic front eprdf navigating between its 1991 announcements to democratise the country and its aversion to power sharing the eprdf has established a de facto one party state that enjoys considerable international support this ruling party has embarked upon a technocratic developmental state trajectory ostensibly aimed at depoliticizing national policy and delegitimizing alternative courses the contributors analyze the dynamics of authoritarian state building political ethnicity electoral politics and state society relations that have marked the ethiopian polity since the downfall of the socialist derg regime chapters on ethnic federalism revolutionary democracy opposition parties the press the judiciary state religion and state foreign donor relations provide the most comprehensive and thought provoking review of contemporary ethiopian national politics to date this book is based on a special issue of the journal of eastern african studies

this book is a contribution to the global history of the transfer of political ideas as exemplified by the case of modern ethiopia like many non european nation states ethiopia adopted a western model of statehood that is the nation state unlike the postcolonial polities that have retained the mode of statehood imposed on them by their colonial powers ethiopia was never successfully colonized leaving its ruling elite free to select a model of modern western statehood in 1931 via japan they adopted the model of unitary ethnolinguistically homogenous nation state in turn copied by tokyo in 1889 from the german empire founded in 1871 following the ethiopian revolution 1974 that overthrew the imperial system the new revolutionary elite promised to address the nationality question through the marxist leninist model the soviet model of ethnolinguistic federalism originally derived from austria hungary was introduced in ethiopia first in 1992 and officially with the 1995 constitution to this day the politics of modern ethiopia is marked by the tension between these two opposed models of the essentially central european type of statehood the late 19th century german german quarrel on the proper model of national statehood for germany or more broadly modern central europe remains the quarrel of ethiopian politics nowadays the book will be useful for scholars of ethiopian and african history and politics and also offers a case in comparative studies on the subject of different models of national statehood elsewhere
