this book makes the case for why we should care about islands and their sustainability islands are hotspots of biocultural diversity and home to 600 million people that depend on one sixth of the earth s total area including the surrounding oceans for their subsistence today they are at the frontlines of climate change and face an existential crisis islands are however potential hubs of innovation that are uniquely positioned to be leaders in sustainability and climate action this volume argues that a full fledged program on island industrial ecology is urgently needed with the aim of offering policy relevant insights and strategies to sustain small islands in an era of global environmental change the nine contributions in this volume cover a wide range of applications of socio metabolic research from flow accounts to stock analysis and their relationship to services in space and time they offer insights into how reconfiguring patterns of resource use will allow island governments to build resilience and adapt to the challenges of climate change this volume investigates the nature of grammatical representations in speakers who master multiple languages since the early days of modern formal approaches to grammar most work has been based on the language of monolingual humans less work has been conducted based on data from speakers who possess more than one language although important insights have been gained from a monolingual focus there is every reason to believe that bi and multilingual data can inform linguistic theory a lot of ongoing work demonstrates that this is indeed the case and the current volume contributes to this growing literature thus the research topic addresses a number of questions relating to grammatical structures in multilingual speakers as well as the methodological issues that arise in the context of studying such speakers a better understanding of the grammatical sides of multilingualism is crucial for understanding the human language capacity and in turn for offering better advice to the public concerning issues of language choice for multilingual children and adults education and language deficits in multilingual individuals
