gilles deleuze was one of the most influential french philosophers of the last century this book aims to make sense of his fundamental project in the clearest possible terms by engaging with the central idea that informs virtually all of his work the equation of being and creativity it explores the various ways in which in order to affirm an unlimited creative power deleuze proceeds to dissolve whatever might restrict or mediate its expression including the organisms objects representations identities and relations that this power generates along the way rather than a theorist of material complexity or relational difference out of this world argues that deleuze is better read as a spiritual and extra worldly philosopher his philosophy leaves little room for processes of social or historical transformation and still less for political relations of conflict or solidarity michel foucault famously suggested that the 20th century would be known as deleuzian this sympathetic but uncompromising new critique suggests that our deleuzian century may soon be coming to a close the soul is a stranger in this world is a timely examination of some of the best modern and contemporary poets and a trenchant defense of poetry as a narrative musical and theological art while it is common today to view the poet as a revolutionary who breaks old forms in the name of aesthetic and political freedom this volume begins with the classical view of the poet as a man speaking to men as wordsworth put it poetry may challenge and shock but it also consoles probing the contours of the human soul in a broken world collected from essays and reviews first published in the wall street journal the new criterion books and culture first things and other outlets the volume traces these concerns in the work of modern masters such as rilke and eliot avant garde exemplars like andré du bouchet and basil bunting and contemporary writers such as dana gioia and franz wright the vaqueiros de alzada a cattle herding people in the asturian mountains of spain have one of the highest suicide rates in europe and an attitude toward death that gives this statistic unusual meaning this world other worlds considers death among the vaqueiros as a central cultural fact which reveals local ideas about the origin and destiny of humans the relations of humans and animals the configuration of the universe and the nature of society interested chiefly in the conceptual and meaningful aspects of death maría cátedra focuses on the cultural resources with which the vaqueiros confront their own mortality how they experience death and what this reveals about the way they see this world and other worlds applying sensitive ethnographic insight to a rich body of oral testimony cátedra discloses an unsuspected symbolic universe native to the vaqueiros death is seen here in close coherent relation to pain age and suffering sickness and suicide one must understand the cultural valuation of different ways of dying and the conditions under which suicides take place to understand what it means to be a vaqueiro is to understand how suicide can be perceived by a people as acceptable a groundbreaking work in european ethnography this world other worlds takes symbolic analysis to a new level in its illumination of local conceptions of death grace and sainthood the book also makes a substantial contribution to the anthropology of religion in this compelling book the author alternately recounts the events and details of the 1890 massacre of the lakota sioux at wounded knee and his participation one hundred years later in the commemorative big foot memorial ride the counterpoint and contrast between the two events produces a powerful effect the oral accounts of the survivors of the slaughter are sometimes so brutal that the reader needs to be taken away if only into the cold and wind of a century later below a drab and dreary office in a park there stands a tree a sprawling oak gnarled and ancient she lies in wait for one who is lost she is patient and she is persistent for she knows that someday the one she searches for will hear her call and answer above a verdant sunlit park in an office there sits a woman driven and motivated diane excels at everything she does but she is haunted and she is restless for no matter how successful she becomes she cannot find a place in the world where she belongs now after years of dissatisfaction diane hears the tree speak at first she thinks it s her imagination but she discovers soon enough that other powers are at work as diane s life is upended by a celestial mystery that threatens to undermine her very sense of self one thing becomes clear diane is not of this world
