cinemopoiesis or cinema of poetry strikes us as a strange combination a phrase we initially read as an oxymoron poetry is often associated with the abstract and the evocative while cinema suggests the concrete and the visible yet various visual media use strong and often contradictory images whose symbolic force and visual impact stimulate the public s attention abstract and emblematic images surround us and the poetic nature of these images lies in the way they speak beyond their apparent limits and stimulate connections on a subjective level a prosaic world like the contemporary one though no longer seems to hold a place for poetry we are inundated by the need to tell and to be told the need to build our lives through narratives but it is precisely here in this contemporary landscape that the cinema of poetry attempts to establish a space for itself exchanging the productive and industrial apparatus for the poetic stimulus of a sensory experience a grammar of cinemopoiesis is a theoretical and practical guide to the cinema of poetry to its tools and forms it examines how the language of a cinema of poetry works both in its theoretical foundations and in its modes of representation and how it takes shape in the exemplary practice of italian authors such as pier paolo pasolini michelangelo antonioni federico fellini and the more recent franco piavoli and matteo garrone science and philosophy have both undergone radical transformations in recent times now they are poised for a pivotal alliance science has abandoned the mechanistic model of nature philosophy has broken through the tight traditional circle of conceptualisation intellectualistic preconceptions and cognitive presuppositions the two now meet to focus on the palpitating fluctuating stream of nature life their traditional prejudices dispersed under the pressure of new evidence philosophy phenomenology of life and the sciences of life meet in the archimedean point of the human creative condition proper to the phenomenology of life and the role of the human subject central to the scientific view of reality they necessitate each other without the sciences of life philosophy phenomenology of life cannot penetrate the intricacies of nature life without recourse to philosophy to delineate design provide clues to the organisation of natural evidence the sciences of life cannot devise new strategies for inquiry nor survey their field the present collection throws open the barriers that separate nature and culture works of physis and those of the spirit following the philosophical model of the onto-poiesis of life focusing on its specifically human sphere that of the human self interpretation in existence it encircles the vast new horizons of the new alliance while the masterpieces of the italian renaissance are usually associated with italy s historical seats of power some of the era s most characteristic works are to be found in places other than florence rome and venice they are the product of the diversity of regions and cultures that makes up the country in endless periphery stephen j campbell examines a range of iconic works in order to unlock a rich series of local references in renaissance art that include regional rulers patron saints and miracles demonstrating for example that the works of titian spoke to beholders differently in naples brescia or milan than in his native venice more than a series of regional microhistories endless periphery tracks the geographic mobility of italian renaissance art and artists revealing a series of exchanges between artists and their patrons as well as the power dynamics that fueled these exchanges a counter history of one of the greatest epochs of art production this richly illustrated book will bring new insight to our understanding of classic works of italian art raphael s ostrich begins with a little studied aspect of raphael s painting the ostrich which appears as an attribute of justice painted in the sala di costantino in the vatican una roman d elia traces the cultural and artistic history of the ostrich from its appearances in ancient egyptian hieroglyphs to the menageries and grotesque ornaments of sixteenth century italy following the complex history of shifting interpretations given to the ostrich in scientific literary religious poetic and satirical texts and images d elia demonstrates the rich variety of ways in which people made sense of this living monster which was depicted as the embodiment of heresy stupidity perseverance justice fortune gluttony and other virtues and vices because raphael was revered as a god of art artists imitated and competed with his ostrich while religious and cultural critics complained about the potential for misinterpreting such obscure imagery this book not only considers the history of the ostrich but also explores how raphael s painting forced viewers to question how meaning is attributed to the natural world a debate of central importance in early modern europe at a time when the disciplines of modern art history and natural history were developing the strangeness of raphael s ostrich situated at the crossroads of art religion myth and natural history both reveals lesser known sides of raphael s painting and illuminates major cultural shifts in attitudes toward nature and images in the renaissance more than simply an examination of a single artist or a single subject raphael s ostrich offers an accessible erudite and charming alternative to vasari s pervasive model of the history of sixteenth century italian art although there are many studies of certain individual ancient italic groups e g the etruscans gauls and latins there is no work that takes a comprehensive view of each of them the famous and the less well known that existed in iron age and roman italy moreover many previous studies have focused only on the material evidence for these groups or on what the literary sources have to say about them this handbook is conceived of as a resource for archaeologists historians philologists and other scholars interested in finding out more about italic groups from the earliest period they are detectable early iron age in most instances down to the time when they begin to assimilate into the roman state in the late republican or early imperial period as such it will endeavor to include both archaeological and historical perspectives on each group with contributions from the best known or up and coming archaeologists and historians for these peoples and topics the language of the volume is english but scholars from around the world have contributed to it this volume covers the ancient peoples of italy more comprehensively in individual chapters and it is also distinct because it has a thematic section

in her introduction tymieniecka states the core theme of the present book sharply is culture an excess of nature s prodigious expansiveness an excess which might turn out to be dangerous for nature itself if it goes too far or is culture a natural congenial prolongation of nature life if the latter then culture is assimilated into nature and thus would lose its claim to autonomy its criteria would be superseded by those of nature alone of course nature and culture may both still be seen as being absorbed by the inner powers of specifically human inwardness on which view human being caught in its own transcendence becomes separated radically in kind from the rest of existence and may not touch even the shadow of reality except through its own prism excess therefore or prolongation and on what terms the relationship between culture and nature in its technical phase demands a new elucidation here this is pursued by excavating the root significance of the multiple rationalities of life in contrast to husserl who differentiated living types according to their degree of participation in the world the phenomenology of life disentangles living types from within the onto-poietic web of life itself the human creative act reveals itself as the great divide of the logos of life a divide that does not separate but harmonizes thus dispelling both naturalistic and spiritualistic reductionism
