the montreal protocol has been cited as the most successful global environmental agreement responsible for phasing out the use of ozone depleting substances but says brian gareau in this provocative and engaging book the montreal protocol has failed largely because of neoliberal ideals involving economic protectionism but also due to the protection of the legitimacy of certain forms of scientific knowledge gareau traces the rise of a new form of disagreement among global powers members of the scientific community civil society and agro industry groups leaving them relatively ineffective in their efforts to push for environmental protection

Money and Finance After the Crisis 2017-09-05

this book challenges the oft cited belief that the montreal protocol remains an exemplary global environmental agreement through a sociological analysis of the political decision making process and controversies generated at montreal protocol meetings the book documents new ways global environmental governance is organized based on neoliberal ideals the book shows how neoliberalism as a dominant discourse and economic practice has become increasingly embedded in the montreal protocol and how global powers are able to act protectionist amid that discourse the book demonstrates how recent controversies involve much more than just economic protectionism per se it also involves the protection of the legitimacy of certain forms of scientific knowledge it traces the rise of a new form of disagreement between global powers members of the scientific community civil society and agro industry groups signaling the negative impact of neoliberal policies on ozone politics and global environmental governance more broadly the book reveals how global civil society groups involved in the montreal protocol are affected by the neoliberal discourse which has left them relatively ineffective in their efforts to push for environmental protection among all the convictions formed in my common presence during my responsible peculiarly composed life there is one unshakable conviction that people whatever the degree of development of their understanding and whatever the form taken by the factors present in their individuality for engendering all kinds of ideals always and everywhere on the earth feel the imperative need on beginning anything new to pronounce aloud or if not aloud at least mentally that particular invocation understandable to even the most ignorant person which has been formulated in different ways in different epochs and in our day is expressed in the following words in the name of the father and of the son and of the holy ghost amen that is why i now also in setting forth on this venture quite new for me namely authorship begin by pronouncing this invocation and pronounce it not only aloud but even very distinctly and as the ancient toulousites used to say with a fully manifested intonation of course only to the extent permitted by data already formed in my whole presence and thoroughly rooted in it for such a manifestation data by the way which are generally formed in man s nature during his preparatory years and which later during his responsible life determine the character and vivifyingness of such an intonation having begun thus i can now be quite at ease and should even according to contemporary notions of religious morality be completely assured that from now on everything in this new venture of mine will proceed as is said like a pianola in any case this is the way i have begun and how the rest will go i can only say as the blind man put it we shall see first and foremost i shall place my hand moreover the right one which although at the moment it is slightly injured due to an accident that recently befell me is nevertheless really my own and has never once failed me in all my life on my heart of course also my own but on the constancy or inconstancy of this part of my whole i see no need to expatiate here and frankly confess that i myself have not the slightest wish to write but am constrained to do so by circumstances quite independent of me though whether these circumstances arose accidentally or were created intentionally by extraneous forces i do not yet know i only know that these circumstances bid me write not just some trifle for reading oneself to sleep but thick and weighty tomes this collection of essays investigates histories in the ancient world and the extent to which the producers and consumers of those histories believed them to be true ancient greek historiographers repeatedly stressed the importance of truth to history yet they also purported to believe in myth distorted facts for nationalistic or moralizing purposes and omitted events that modern audiences might consider crucial to a truthful account of the past truth and history in the ancient world explores a pluralistic concept of truth one in which different versions of the same historical event can all be true or different kinds of truths and modes of belief are contingent on culture beginning with comparisons between historiography and aspects of belief in greek tragedy chapters include discussions of historiography through the works of herodotus xenophon and ktesias as well as hellenistic and later historiography material culture in vitruvius and lucian s satire rather than investigate whether historiography incorporates elements of poetic rhetorical or narrative techniques to shape historical accounts or whether cultural memory is flexible or manipulated this volume examines pluralities of truth and belief within the ancient world and consequences for our understanding of culture ancient or otherwise this work is divided into two autonomous books the first book the state represents a radically new political system of society one which is the most democratic system ever possible this is a completely new society a real civil society which otherwise in the capitalist system is only a utopia in this book i scrutinize the principles of scientific socialism i e all those principles of marxism concerning the state that build socialism as a political system the second book the economic theory of socialism is a sequel and as far as i know the only sequel of the greatest work by karl marx capital the economics of socialism makes marx s socialism already completely possible in this book i scrutinize the economic laws that build socialism as a more effective economic system than capitalism these laws are extracted from marx s main work capital from 1917 to 1991 the totalitarian system in ussr and east europe was called socialism and even by the scientific nonsense and absurd names of communism and communist system in this system the official ideology was allegedly marxism but really it could not endure any marxist criticism there was never any socialism anywhere in the twentieth century we passed through a system of utopian socialism as proof that this was not socialism that was not possible but for the utopia of writers before and after marx we were visited by a utopian socialism which at the contemporary stage is simply capitalism state monopolistic there is no better application of keynes s doctrine than the socialism of the twentieth century his planned capitalism is actually planned socialism
