production and their availability management and usage in schools it also looks at the role of information and communication technology ict based tlms and their availability the study recognizes that improved tlm system management is a critical component in achieving affordable and sustainable tlm provision for all students this study which draws from more than 40 anglophone francophone lusophone and arabic speaking countries will be particularly useful for policymakers development partners and other stakeholders attempting to understand the wide range of issues surrounding the complexity of textbook provision in sub saharan africa despite their removal from england s national curriculum in 1988 and claims of elitism latin and greek are increasingly re entering the mainstream educational arena since 2012 there have been more students in state maintained schools in england studying classical subjects than in independent schools and the number of schools offering classics continues to rise in the state maintained sector the teaching and learning of latin and greek is not however confined to the classroom community based learning for adults and children is facilitated in newly established regional classics hubs in evenings and at weekends in universities as part of outreach and even in parks and in prisons this book investigates the motivations of teachers and learners behind the rise of classics in the classroom and in communities and explores ways in which knowledge of classical languages is considered valuable for diverse learners in the 21st century the role of classical languages within the english educational policy landscape is examined as new possibilities exist for introducing latin and greek into school curricula the state of classics education internationally is also investigated with case studies presenting the status quo in policy and practice from australasia north america the rest of europe and worldwide the priorities for the future of classics education in these diverse locations are compared and contrasted by the editors who conjecture what strategies are conducive to success french language text focuses on the language skills of reading writing listening and speaking grammar and vocabulary are also stressed as a foundation this new major reference work provides a comprehensive overview of linguistic phenomena in a variety of sinitic languages in a global context highlighting the dynamic interaction between these languages and english this living reference work offers a window into the linguistic sphere in china and beyond and showcases the latest research into diverse and evolving linguistic phenomena that have resulted from intensified interactions between the sinophone world and other lingua spheres the handbook is divided into five sections the chapters in section i new research trends in chinese linguistic research present fast growing research areas in chinese linguistics particularly those undertaken by scholars based in china section ii interactions of sinitic languages focuses on language contact situations inside and outside china the chapters in section iii meaning culture translation explore the meanings of key cultural concepts and how ideas move between chinese and english through translation across various genres section iv new trends in teaching chinese as a foreign language covers new ideas and practices relating to teaching the chinese language and culture the final section section v transference from chinese to english explores dynamic interactions between varieties of chinese and varieties of english as they play out in multilingual sites and settings the impact of ict on the teaching of classical languages literature and culture has not until now been extensively described and evaluated nevertheless educational technology has made a huge difference to the ways in which classics is taught at junior senior and college level the book brings together twenty major approaches to the use of technology in the classroom and presents them for a wide international audience it thus forms a record of current and developing practice promotes further discussion and use among practitioners teachers learners and trainers and offers suggestions for changes in pedagogical practices in the teaching of classics for the better the many examples of practice from both uk and us perspectives are applicable to countries throughout the world where classics is being taught the more traditional curricula of high school education in the uk and europe are drawing more and more on edutech whereas educational jurisdictions in the us are increasingly expecting high school students to use ict in all lessons with some actively dissuading schools from using traditional printed textbooks this book presents school teachers with a vital resource as they adapt to this use of educational technology in classics teaching this is no less pertinent at university level in the uk and us where pedagogy tends to follow traditionalist paradigms this book offers lecturers frameworks for understanding and assimilating the models of teaching and learning which are prevalent in schools and experienced by their students this handbook provides broad coverage of the languages indigenous to north america with special focus on typologically interesting features and areal characteristics surveys of current work and topics of particular importance to communities the volume is divided into two major parts subfields of linguistics and family sketches the subtitle the studies in this volume show how multilingual learners use language play in second language acquisition to internalize sets of voices rather than decontextualized linguistic systems namely complexes of linguistic and non linguistic features incorporating the personalities of significant others in sociocultural terms these internalized heteroglossic voices become tools that learners can adapt and use playfully to enact chosen roles stances and identities in subsequent oral interactions different chapters explore these sociocultural constructs using different approaches including variationist sociolinguistics conversation analysis translanguaging and positioning theory
