Social Issues of India 1994

persistence of poverty hunger and starvation along with growing availability of food has rendered the rationale of both poverty alleviation and food self sufficiency policies suspect and created a paradoxical situation there is a consensus among policy makers planners and economists that the problems of poverty hunger and malnutrition have not been solved satisfactorily it is also acknowledged that the persistence of these problems has the potential of undermining the very process of democratic governance policies and programmes have systematically failed with a huge opportunity cost there is need for new answers to these questions available solutions have outlived their utility time has come to recast and redefine the agenda for poverty and food insecurity eradication this is easier said than done there is a need for a dispassionate debate discussion and meaningful action this challenging task cannot be solved by state intervention alone it is against this backdrop that the present
