one constructs synoptic hypotheses always aware of the many gaps in our knowledge the presence of competing hypotheses and the theological and historical entailments in any given hypothesis common to the essays in the remaining three sections is the insistence that the literature thought and practices of the early jesus movement must be treated with a deep awareness of their social literary and intellectual contexts the context of the early jesus movement is illumined not simply by resort to the literary and historical sources produced by greek and roman elites but more importantly by data gathered from documentary sources available in non literary papyri few issues in tax policy are as divisive as the capital gains tax should capital gains the increase in value of assets such as stocks or businesses be taxed at all if so when should they be taxed when they are earned or when they are realized should taxes be adjusted for inflation and should gains be taxed at both the individual and corporate levels in this book leonard burman cuts through the political rhetoric to present the facts about capital gains he begins by explaining the complex rules that govern the taxation of capital gains examines the kinds of assets that produce them and the factors that can lead to gains or losses he then reviews the effects of capital gains taxation on saving and investment and considers the arguments for and against indexing capital gains taxes for inflation as well as other options for altering the current system the discovery of a rich aristocratic burial at folly lane st albans has thrown new light on the early history of the roman town the evidence recovered for the elaborate rituals surrounding the burial and the sacred area in which it was located has also given an insight into verulamium as a cult centre the precursor of the later city of st albans this book has been designed for undergraduate honours and postgraduate students of various indian universities a set of objective problems has been provided at the end of each chapter which will be useful to the aspirants of competitive examinations based on the author's doctoral dissertation this large volume presents data and interpretation on the archaeology of punic malta c 900bc to c ad200 established in 1960 advances in heterocyclic chemistry is the definitive serial in the area one of great importance to organic chemists polymer chemists and many biological scientists written by established authorities in the field the comprehensive reviews combine descriptive chemistry and mechanistic insight and yield an understanding of how the chemistry drives the properties set includes revised editions of some issues
