team leaders who need to function in this new scientific world wherein the most important breakthroughs happen through cooperation combined effort and mutual trust collaboration and networking have recently come to the fore as major school improvement strategies in a number of countries a variety of initiatives from government and other agencies have encouraged collaboration and led to a lot of practical activity in this area however at present there are no texts in education that explore collaboration and networking from both a theoretical and practical perspective in this book we aim to provide a theoretical background to educational collaboration drawing on research and theory in policy studies psychology and sociology leading ultimately to a typology of networks this theoretical base will be tested in the discussion of a number of case studies referring to specific initiatives such as the federations programme multi agency collaboration and networked learning communities lessons for practice will be drawn and presented in terms of factors internal and external to the school the key issue of network leadership will be addressed here as well the case for interprofessional collaboration recognises and explores the premium that modern health systems place on closer working relationships each chapter adopts a consistent format and a clear framework for professional relationships considering those with the same profession other professions new partners policy actors the public and with patients section one policy into practice considers a series of analytical models which provide a contemporary account of collaboration theory including global developments the second section of the book practice into policy examines real life drivers for behavioural change the third section evaluates personal learning and learning together highlights the barriers to collaboration how to overcome them and the resulting dividends enlivens health policy with a view to transformative adaptations in the workplace draws on international examples of effective practice for local application this book is designed for those in the early stages of their careers as health and social care professionals it is also aimed at managers and educators to guide them in commissioning and providing programmes to promote collaboration a comprehensive introduction to all the key topics criminological theories and important themes that students will cover when studying criminology and criminal justice collaboration has emerged as a central concept in public policy circles in australia and a panacea to the complex challenges facing australia but is this really the cure all it seems to be in this edited collection we present scholarly and practitioner perspectives on the drivers challenges prospects and promise of collaboration the papers first presented at the 2007 anzso conference draw on the extensive experience of the contributors in either trying to enact collaboration or studying the processes of this phenomenon together the collection provides important insights into the potential of collaboration but also the fiercely stubborn barriers to adopting more collaborative approaches to policy and implementation the collection includes chapter from public servants third sector managers and both australian and international academics which together make it a stimulating read for those working with or within government it adds considerably to the debate about how to address current challenges of public policy and provides a significant resource for those interested in the realities of collaborative governance
