social scientists mark robert rank thomas a hirschl and kirk a foster provide a new and innovative look into a curious dynamic the tension between the promise of economic opportunities and rewards and the amount of turmoil that americans encounter in their quest for those rewards the authors explore questions such as what percentage of americans achieve affluence and how much income mobility do we actually have are most americans able to own a home and at what age how is it that nearly 80 percent of us will experience significant economic insecurity at some point between ages 25 and 60 how can access to the american dream be increased combining personal interviews with dozens of americans and a longitudinal study covering 40 years of income data the authors tell the story of the american
