highlighting the interconnections between southeast asia and the world through literature this book calls for a different reading approach to the literatures of southeast asia by using translation as the main conceptual framework in the analyses and interpretation of the texts languages and cultures of the following countries cambodia malaysian singapore indonesia brunei darussalam and the philippines through the theme of translational politics the contributors critically examine not only the linguistic properties but also the metaphoric symbolic and semiotic meanings images and representations that have been translated across societies and cultures through local and global consumption and circulation of literature new media and other cultural forms using translation to unlock and decode multiple different languages narratives histories and worldviews emerging from southeast asian geo literary contexts this book builds on current scholarship and offers new approaches to the contestations of race gender and sexuality in literature which often involve the politically charged discourses of identity language and representation at the same time this book provides new perspectives and future directions in the study of southeast asian literatures exploring a range of literary and cultural products including written texts performance and cinema this volume will be a key resource for students and researchers interested in translation and cultural studies comparative and world literature and southeast asian studies bakri musa makes a persuasive argument for malaysia to embrace globalization with conviction it is the ticket to her vision 2020 aspirations malaysia was well on her way to join the global mainstream when the 1997 economic crisis interrupted that trajectory it is now time the writer passionately pleads to return to that path yes there are sandbars and reefs together with the inevitable storms and swells in the ocean of globalization this calls for skillful navigators and sailors ready to trim the sails and batten the hatches the alternative would be to remain in port not an attractive option the writer offers specific prescriptions on how best to meet those challenges from enhanced health care to superior education system and by exposing malaysians to greater competition as islam is a pervasive influence in malaysia the writer calls for an enlightened interpretation of the faith one more in tune with its ideals of tolerance for diversity reverence for learning and a passion for trade the writer draws lessons from as far away as argentina and as far back as the ancient muslims and from sociology to biology the perspectives offered here are refreshing departures from the wisdom currently emanating from kuala lumpur
