Valuing Assessment in Science Education: Pedagogy, Curriculum, Policy 2013-06-05 assessment is a fundamental issue in research in science education in curriculum development and implementation in science education as well as in science teaching and learning this book takes a broad and deep view of research involving assessment in science education across contexts and cultures from whole countries to individual classrooms and across forms and purposes from assessment in the service of student learning to policy implications of system wide assessment it examines the relationships between assessment measurement and evaluation explores assessment philosophies and practices in relation to curriculum and scientific literacy learning and details the relationships between assessment and science education policy the third in a series valuing assessment in science education has chapters from a range of international scholars from across the globe and staff from monash university king's college london and university of waikato the two previous books in the series examined research relevant to the re emergence of values in science education and teaching across the spectrum of science education as well as across cultural contexts through the professional knowledge of science teaching this third book now moves to examine different aspects of generating understanding about what science is learnt how it is learnt and how it is valued valuing assessment in science education will appeal to all those with some engagement with and or use of research in science education including research students academics curriculum development agencies assessment authorities and policy makers it will also be of interest to all classroom science teachers who seek to keep abreast of the latest research and development and thinking in their area of professional concern

Validity of Educational Assessments in Chile and Latin America 2021-09-11

this edited volume presents a systematic analysis of conceptual methodological and applied aspects related to the validation of educational tests used in latin american countries inspired by international standards on educational measurement and evaluation this book illustrates efforts that have been made in several countries to validate different types of educational assessments including student learning assessments measurements of non cognitive aspects in students teacher evaluations and tests for certification and selection it gathers the experience of validity studies from the main international assessments in latin america pisa timss erce and iccs additionally it shows the challenges that must be taken into account when evaluations are used to compare countries groups or trends of achievement over time the book builds on the premise that measurements in the educational field should not be used if there are no studies that support the validity of the interpretation of their scores or the use made of such tests it shows that despite the recognition given to validity relatively few educational measurement assessments have accumulated enough evidence to support their interpretation and use in doing so this volume increases awareness about the relevance of validity especially when assessments are key component of educational policies
