city folk pass through one stop light towns often not understanding their charms they shudder to think of ever living in such a hick address away from the glitter glamour and sophistication of the american metropolitan sprawl surprisingly while rural america is an endangered species the people that dwell there face many of the same joys and heartaches as city folk only the context is changed in the snare of the fowler is a reminiscence of life beyond the stoplight the stories of the people at little league games easter sunrise services funerals high school graduations county fairs shed endearing light on life in our small towns a city dweller tells these remembrances when by a great surprise he became a parish pastor in just such a town rather than being horrified by the tiny dot on the map he fell in love with the people and the life in a one stoplight town
