Reflections on God and the Death of God 2021-10-31 i spent the most of the first half of my life believing in christianity and regarding belief in god as an essential component of human existence george ricker says i ve spent the last 30 years trying to understand why i ever thought that way this book is about how and why that process occurred it s also about the danger posed to our democratic society by fundamentalist religion godless in america is a testimonial about the advantages of life without gods and religions it s also a no holds barred look at some of the problems with both concepts written in a style that is conversational yet provocative it is a candid assessment of the real culture war being fought in america today the attack being waged by the religious right on the values of personal freedom democratic government and the necessity for all americans to be treated as equals before the law and by their government at times humorous at times outrageous godless in america treats religion and religious concepts as ideas that should be evaluated with the same standards used to evaluate all other ideas and concepts not from the privileged position claimed by so many of a religious persuasion

Religion as Magical Ideology 2014-10-20 in view of the enormous number of works on marxism in general and in light of the many books and articles touching on the relationship of marxism to religion in particular it may fairly be asked why yet another such work should be produced my reply is that in eliciting answers to the kinds of questions posed by the methodology i have used it was necessary to go to the primary sources almost exclusively this is not to bemoan a sad fate but to affirm that there are notable deficiencies in the secondary sources relevant to my topic by way of general indictment i contend that the major difficulty with existing studies of the marxist critique of religion is that their authors whether expositors or critics have failed both to specify their own presuppositions concerning religion and to approach the subject with an adequate comprehension of its many dimensions since in most cases the reader is equally unprepared anthropologically sociologically psychologically and historically for clear and informed thought in this vast and nebulous area the result has been widespread confusion as if this were not enough numerous writers with little more than polemical interests have compounded the confusion by failing to distinguish between religion in general and their own brands of faith in particular others have not discriminated between the concepts of metaphysics and the supernatural items of religious belief
