borges svelt set a goal a goal that he has no hope of achieving writing 100 000 words in one day at first he takes baby steps averaging 25 000 words per day before encountering his first obstacle with a little ingenuity can the eccentric author conquer his dream or is he totally out of his league approximately 5 400 words in all excerpt from the crappiest author borges svelt wasn t about to hit the new york times bestseller list anytime soon heavens no he was one of those dreadful self published authors eek shunned by the industry and despised by his traditionally published peers like them he was eccentric in many ways from his tacky plaid socks that doubled as hand warmers to naming every member of the brady bunch whenever he reached a mental roadblock while some writers prefer to stand while they write or sail the seven seas while banging away on their trusty typewriter borges felt right at home on his shiny porcelain throne of course he didn't mount the toilet with a of his clothes on that would suggest that he was the least bit sane on the contrary he didn't wear a shred of clothing he was the pantless author human computer interaction hci is easy to define yet difficult to predict encompassing the management study planning and design of the ways in which users interact with computers this field has evolved from using punch cards to force touch in a matter of decades what was once considered science fiction is now ubiquitous the future of hci is mercurial yet predictions point to the effortless use of high functioning services the handbook of research on human computer interfaces developments and applications is primarily concerned with emerging research regarding gesture interaction augmented reality and assistive technologies and their place within hci from gaming to rehabilitation systems these new technologies share the need to interface with humans and as computers become thoroughly integrated into everyday life so does the necessity of hci research
