understanding of caregivers particularly women religious whose ministry was manifested in public and private facilities in times of epidemics and war in railroad and mining camp hospitals each year neonatal intensive care units nicus in the u s and around the world help thousands of sick or premature newborns survive nicus are committed to the ideals of family centered care which encourages shared decision making between parents and nicu caregivers in cases of infants with conditions marked by high mortality morbidity or great suffering family centered care affirms the right of parents to assist in making decisions regarding aggressive treatment for their infant often these parents difficult and intimate decisions are shaped profoundly by their religious beliefs in light of this what precisely are the teachings of the major world religious traditions about the status and care of the premature or sick newborn few studies have grappled with what major religious traditions teach about the care of the newborn or how these teachings may bear on parents decisions this volume seeks to fill this gap providing information on religious teachings about the newborn to the multidisciplinary teams of nicu professionals neonatologists advance practice nurses social workers as well as to parents of nicu patients and students of bioethics in chapters dealing with judaism catholicism denominational protestantism evangelical protestantism african american protestantism sunni and shi a islam hinduism buddhism navajo religion and seventh day adventism leading scholars develop the teachings of these traditions on the status treatment and ritual accompaniments of care of the premature or sick newborn this is an essential book that will serve as a first resort for clinicians who need to understand the religious dynamics influencing anyone making a difficult decision about her sick newborn geropsychology the field of psychology concerned with the psychological behavioural biological and social aspects of aging has developed rapidly in the past decade this clinical casebook describes current best practice in managing complex cases involving common mental health issues in later life by leading authorities in the field this book offers an extensive introduction and 13 diverse essays on how world war ii the holocaust and their aftermath affected jewish families and jewish communities with an especially close look at the roles played by women youth and children focusing on eastern and central europe themes explored include how jewish parents handled the nazi threat rescue and resistance within the jewish family unit the transformation of gender roles under duress youth s wartime and early postwar experiences postwar reconstruction of the jewish family rehabilitation of jewish children and youth and the role of zionism in shaping the present and future of young survivors relying on newly available archival material and novel research in the areas of families youth rescue resistance gender and memory this volume will be an indispensable guide to current work on the familial and social history of the holocaust do you often daydream and muse on how wonderful it would be for someone to regularly be attending to your needs do you spend a large part of each day helping others to feel better this book may challenge your old patterns of thinking but following brockman s primary directive to take care of yourself first your life will start to transform and your health and well being will begin to shift in a healing direction howard brockman lcsw has written his second book this time emphasizing the importance of self care for the legions of people supporting and taking care of others while there are books that have been written about the challenges to professionals such as social workers nurses and psychologists to becoming burned out brockman s book is written also for the millions of untrained non professionals who are being recruited daily to care for their elderly parents do you fit into either of these categories he describes the many influences that lead to compassion fatigue and becoming infected by the feelings of others this is all about how unconscious empathy can take sensitive caregivers down a never ending spiral to adrenal fatigue and depression in chapter 2 characteristics of high intensity relaters brockman describes the primary personality of those helpers whose currency is relationship and who easily fall prey to subtle energetic influences that erode their vital force externally referencing to others needs first tends to be one of their traits chapter 6 prevent self sabotage is filled with practical ways to stay focused and positive while overcoming old repetitive and negative inner chatter confronting your tyrannizing inner critic is never easy brockman tells you how he identifies different types of energy drainers that use our energy to enliven themselves and deplete ours he does a good job explaining how to create secure and persistent energetic boundaries with difficult and demanding people and other disruptive environments this is perhaps the most important theme woven throughout the book for the helper personality tends to not know how to say no to requests from others learning how to establish reliable energetic boundaries is incredibly important for protecting against the interpersonal hazard he refers to as psychotoxic contamination that can become cumulative over time and generate serious long term health consequences dark and heavy energy can settle into and invade the body to wreak havoc with one's health and emotional stability the good news is that you can effectively create these boundaries and more importantly learn how to sustain them amidst the ongoing demands of the people you are helping he spends a chapter on how to use specific energy psychology techniques for emergency self care providing fascinating case examples to illustrate how to prevent post traumatic stress from building up to become ptsd brockman spends some time explaining the importance of optimizing your self care by managing your chi and how plants the natural world and flower essences can support helpers to maintain their inner balance and overall harmony in chapter 11 making it happen from within you will discover well described and powerful imagery techniques for manifesting positive self care outcomes for yourself brockman then teaches you how to connect to and work with your inner guides for reliable personal and professional guidance the power of a caregiver's presence is highlighted in the concluding chapter discussing how being the blessing actually creates collective coherence in the immediate caregiver's environment and thus positively affects those who are being cared for for readers who would like to measure and determine the degree of their own present health and well being there are two self assessment checklists for high intensity relations in appendix 2 that can also be downloaded from his website dynamicenergetichealing.com hiv aids political will and hope demonstrates that the scourge of the aids flourishes within the weaknesses of the nigerian state and in the deficiencies of socio cultural economic and political constructs the abovementioned structures have nurtured a culture and politics of neglect inequalities and marginalisation of disempowered and subordinated children men and more especially women these disease prone circumstances expose human behavioural weaknesses and the limitations in the government structures as well as poor implementation of policies especially within the health care sector the result is the inefficiencies insufficiencies and inadequacies in the hiv aids preventive as well as care and support programmes it therefore makes clear that for the nigerian state to prove itself in the present scourge of aids it would have to exert all its political will in order to construct a proper caring responsibility as a basic attitude for her citizenry in general and for her overwhelming hiv aids patients in particular this is a challenge to a health care reform and an adequate caring responsibility for people living with aids to do this effectively this book recommends a few steps in collaboration with the jodo shu research institute jsri when you are responsible for another first published in 1996 routledge is an imprint of taylor francis an informa company drawing on his more than twenty years as a practicing physical therapist author kevin lockette has compiled an unparalleled resource for home caregivers a caregiver s complete guide for safe mobility and independence in the home delivers exactly what its title states lockette s numerous strategies and tips focus on how to offer safe caregiving especially as it relates to the care receiver s mobility and independence but he also gives attention to the safety of the caregiver because as he wisely notes if a caregiver is injured it frequently results in the care receiver losing the ability to remain in a community setting this book has easily referenced chapters on such topics as body mechanics including principles of safe lifting guidelines for transfers including considerations for body type and various disabilities adaptive and assistive devices for the care receiver fall prevention and fall proofing the home and information on types of wheelchairs he also includes detailed instructions with illustrations on appropriate exercises for the minimally to moderately impaired a helpful glossary is provided as are several appendices which offer important information on various caregiver associations caregiver specific sites and numerous connected resources cover although health equity and diversity focussed research has begun to gain momentum there is still a paucity of research from health geographers that explicitly explores how geographic factors such as place space scale community and location inform multiple axes of difference such axes can include residential location age sex gender race ethnicity culture religion socio economic status marital status sexual orientation education level and immigration status specifically focussing on canada s rapidly changing society which is becoming increasingly pluralized and diverse this book examines the place health diversity intersection in this national context health geographers are well positioned to offer a valuable contribution to diversity focussed research because place is inextricably linked to differential experiences of health for example access to health care and health promoting services and resources is largely influenced by where one is physically and socially situated within the web of diversity furthermore applying geographic concepts like place in both the physical and social sense allows researchers to explore multiple axes of difference simultaneously such geographic perspectives as presented in this book offer new insights into what makes diverse people in diverse places with access to diverse resources un healthy in different ways in canada and beyond the authors demonstrate how u s nurses have worked throughout their history to restore patients to health teach health promotion and participate in disease preventing activities recounting those experiences in the nurses own words the authors bring that history to life capturing nurses thoughts and feelings during times of war epidemics and disasters as well as during their everyday work the book fills a gap in the secondary literature on the history of nursing that can be useful in these times of great social change it is a must read for every nurse in the united states barbra mann wall phd rn faan director of the eleanor crowder bjoring center for nursing historical inquiry university of virginia from the foreword for over four hundred years a diverse array of nurses nurses aides midwives and public minded citizens across the united states have attended to the healthcare of america s equally diverse populations beginning in 1607 when the first englishmen landed in virginia and concluding in 2016 when flint michigan was declared to be in a state of emergency this expansive nursing history text for undergraduate and graduate nursing programs examines the history of the nursing profession to better understand how nursing became what it is today grounded in the premise that health care can and should be promoted in partnership with communities to provide quality care for all this history analyzes the resilience and innovation of nurses who provided care for the most underprivileged populations such as slaves on southern plantations immigrants in tenements in manhattan s lower east side and isolated populations in rural kentucky it takes into account issues of race class and gender and the influence of these factors on nurses and patients featuring nearly 300 photos oral histories and case examples from varied settings in the united states and beyond the narrative discusses major medical advances prominent leaders and grassroots movements in nursing and ethical dilemmas that nurses faced with each change in the profession chapters include discussion questions for class sessions as well as a list of suggested readings key features examines the history of nursing during the last four centuries links challenges for nurses in the past to those of present day nurses includes oral histories case examples boxed highlights call outs discussion questions archival sites and references covers drugs technological innovations and scientific discovery in each era demonstrates progression toward a culture of health as described by the robert wood johnson foundation containing more than 300 articles covering the alphabetical entries p sh this book also includes articles on significant topics ranging from paul political theology and the qur an to religious liberty salvation history and scholasticism the question of how research on structures and outcomes in religious education can be carried out successfully is of current interest in many countries next to the more traditional historical analytical and more recently international comparative approaches empirical research in religious education has been able to establish itself as a major approach to this field moreover the contemporary discussion about comparative evaluation in schools has raised a number of questions which also refer to religious education what competences can pupils acquire in this subject does religious education really support the acquisition and development of the competences aspired are there differences in this respect between different forms of religious education or between different approaches to teaching with contributions from eight european countries the volume brings together approaches and research experiences that try to follow this lead by offering new and empirically based perspectives for the future improvement of teaching and learning in this school subject whoever is interested in improving the practice of religious education then will not be able to bypass the question of researching processes and outcomes an insight which also refers to a small but growing number of studies in this field which can be identified in several countries although health equity and diversity focussed research has begun to gain momentum there is still a paucity of research from health geographers that explicitly explores how geographic factors such as place space scale community and location inform multiple axes of difference such axes can include residential location age sex gender race ethnicity culture religion socio economic status marital status sexual orientation education level and immigration status specifically focussing on canada s rapidly changing society which is becoming increasingly pluralized and diverse this book examines the place health diversity intersection in this national context health geographers are well positioned to offer a valuable contribution to diversity focussed research because place is inextricably linked to differential experiences of health for example access to health care and health promoting services and resources is largely influenced by where one is physically and socially situated within the web of diversity furthermore applying geographic concepts like place in both the physical and social sense allows researchers to explore multiple axes of difference simultaneously such geographic perspectives as presented in this book offer new insights into what makes diverse people in diverse places with access to diverse resources un healthy in different ways in canada and beyond the question of how research on structures and outcomes in religious education can be carried out successfully is of current interest in many countries next to the more traditional historical analytical and more recently international comparative approaches empirical research in religious education has been able to establish itself as a major approach to this field moreover the contemporary discussion about comparative evaluation in schools has raised a number of questions which also refer to religious education what competences can pupils acquire in this subject does religious education really support the acquisition and development of the competences aspired are there differences in this respect between different forms of religious education or between different approaches to teaching with contributions from eight european countries the volume brings together approaches and research experiences that try to follow this lead by offering new and empirically based perspectives for the future improvement of teaching and learning in this school subject whoever is interested in improving the practice of religious education then will not be able to bypass the question of researching processes and outcomes an insight which also refers to a small but growing number of studies in this field which can be identified in several countries
