The Praeger Handbook of Urban Education 2006-03-30 each of the figures examined in this study john dee john donne sir kenelm digby henry and thomas vaughan and jane lead is concerned with the ways in which god can be approached or experienced michael martin analyzes the ways in which the encounter with god is figured among these early modern writers who inhabit the shared cultural space of poets and preachers mystics and scientists the three main themes that inform this study are cura animarum the care of souls and the diminished role of spiritual direction in post reformation religious life the rise of scientific rationality and the struggle against the disappearance of the holy arising from the methods and commitments of phenomenology the primary mode of inquiry of this study resides in contemplation not in a religious sense but in the realm of perception attendance and acceptance martin portrays figures such as dee digby and thomas vaughan not as the eccentrics they are often depicted to have been but rather as participating in a religious mainstream that had been radically altered by the disappearance of any kind of mandatory or regular spiritual direction a problem which was further complicated and exacerbated by the rise of science thus this study contributes to a reconfiguration of our notion of what religious orthodoxy really meant during the period and calls into question our own assumptions about what is or was orthodox and heterodox

The Praeger Handbook on Women's Cancers 2014-05-28 george lukas and other leading filmmakers acknowledge their indebtedness to mythographic scholarship on archetypes in his new study author rodney farnsworth identifies a pattern of filmmakers obsessions with archetypical rituals centered on sacrifice and the family in films made between 1977 and 1983 a period of political upheaval on both sides of the atlantic combining a strong historical reading of the films in a sociopolitical context and utilizing queer theory as a framework for his arguments farnsworth offers a close examination of key films of the period including works by stanley kubrick robert altman and francis ford coppola and provides a fascinating and timely glimpse of an important political and cinematic time marking the end of a more liberal era the late seventies and early eighties witnessed the growth of reactionary conservative movements such as the new religious political right these were the years that gave birth to movies from esoteric art house pictures to blockbusters such as star wars that seemed in many cases to be adaptations of primordial mythology subverting liberal to moderate views into reactionary depictions of family life although filmmakers had turned to these myths to shape their works farnsworth observes the unstable volatile nature of the archetypes deconstructed their best social intentions into something rich strange and deadly this thought provoking work will be of interest to students of social history as well as film studies
